NEW QUESTION # 39

An Administrator has a user who needs to be able to suspend and resume a task based on the current virtual warehouse load, but this user should not be able to modify the task or start a new run.

What privileges should be granted to the user to meet these requirements? (Choose two.)

- A. EXECUTE TASK on the task
- B. OPERATE on the task
- C. USAGE on the database and schema containing the task
- D. OWNERSHIP on the database and schema containing the task
- E. OWNERSHIP on the task

Answer: B,C

To suspend and resume a task, the user needs the OPERATE privilege on the task. Additionally, USAGE on the database and schema containing the task is required to access it. Granting these together allows control of task state without giving modification or ownership rights.

To prevent data exfiltration, Snowflake requires storage integrations for both stage creation and stage operations, ensuring that unmanaged external locations cannot be used.
