CompTIA A+ Certification Exam: Core 2 Sample Questions (Q414-Q419):

NEW QUESTION # 414

After clicking on a link in an email a Chief Financial Officer (CFO) received the following error:

The CFO then reported the incident to a technician. The link is purportedly to the organization's bank. Which of the following should the technician perform FIRST?

- A. Update the browser's CRLs
- B. File a trouble ticket with the bank.
- C. Contact the ISP to report the CFCs concern

- D. Instruct the CFO to exit the browser

Answer: A

Explanation:

The technician should update the browser's CRLs first. The error message indicates that the certificate revocation list (CRL) is not up to date. Updating the CRLs will ensure that the browser can verify the authenticity of the bank's website.

NEW QUESTION # 415

Which of the following does MFA provide?

- A. Digital signature
- B. Public key infrastructure
- C. Security enhancement
- D. Encryption

Answer: C

Explanation:

MFA stands for multi-factor authentication, which is an electronic authentication method that requires the user to provide two or more verification factors to gain access to a resource such as an application, online account, or a VPN1. MFA provides security enhancement by making it harder for attackers to compromise the user's identity or credentials, as they would need to obtain more than just the username and password. MFA can also prevent unauthorized access to sensitive data or resources, as well as reduce the risk of identity theft or fraud2.

NEW QUESTION # 416

A user needs to test several software replacement possibilities. Part of the process involves installing the different software options on a corporate-imaged sandboxed PC. Which of the following is the best option to allow the user to install the required software?

- A. Give the user the local, high-privileged account password.
- B. Add the user to the local Administrators group.
- C. Let the user use credentials from another user who has rights.
- D. Make the user a member of Domain Admins.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth Explanation: The best practice is to add the user to the local Administrators group, allowing them to install software on their own machine without giving them excessive permissions across the entire network.

* A. Make the user a member of Domain Admins - Incorrect. This would give too much control over the network, creating a major security risk.

* C. Let the user use credentials from another user who has rights - Incorrect. Sharing credentials violates security best practices.

* D. Give the user the local, high-privileged account password - Incorrect. This could allow unauthorized configuration changes.

NEW QUESTION # 417

A technician is preparing to remediate a Trojan virus that was found on a workstation. Which of the following steps should the technician complete BEFORE removing the virus?

- A. Schedule a malware scan.
- B. Educate the end user.
- C. Run Windows Update.
- D. Disable System Restore.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

Before removing a Trojan virus from a workstation, a technician should disable System Restore. System Restore is a feature that allows users to restore their system to a previous state in case of problems or errors.

However, System Restore can also restore infected files or registry entries that were removed by antivirus software or manual actions. By disabling System Restore, a technician can ensure that the Trojan virus is completely removed and does not reappear after a system restore operation. Scheduling a malware scan may help detect and remove some malware but may not be effective against all types of Trojan viruses. Educating the end user may help prevent future infections but does not address the current issue of removing the Trojan virus. Running Windows Update may help patch some security vulnerabilities but does not guarantee that the Trojan virus will be removed. NEW QUESTION # 418

A customer installed a new web browser from an unsolicited USB drive that the customer received in the mail.

The browser is not working as expected, and internet searches are redirected to another site. Which of the following should the user do next after uninstalling the browser?

- A. Install a trusted browser.
- B. Change the browser default search engine.
- C. Reset all browser settings.
- D. Delete the browser cookies and history.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

The customer's web browser is likely infected by a browser hijacker, which is a type of malware that changes the browser's settings and redirects the user to malicious websites. A browser hijacker can also steal the user's personal data, display unwanted ads, and install more malware on the device. To remove a browser hijacker, the user should first uninstall the browser from the Control Panel, then scan the device with an antivirus or anti-malware program, and finally install a trusted browser from a legitimate source. Deleting the browser cookies and history, resetting the browser settings, or changing the browser default search engine may not be enough to get rid of the browser hijacker, as it may have embedded itself into the system or other browser components.
