Cisco Certified Support Technician (CCST) Cybersecurity Sample Questions (Q147-Q152):

NEW QUESTION # 147

Which of the following best describes network security?

- A. Securing physical access to network devices
- B. Protecting data from unauthorized access or modifications
- C. Ensuring high availability and performance of the network
- D. Preventing network configuration errors

Answer: B

Explanation:

Network security is the practice of protecting data in a network from unauthorized access, modifications, or attacks. It involves implementing various security measures such as access control, encryption, firewalls, and intrusion prevention systems.

NEW QUESTION # 148

How does sandboxing help with the analysis of malware?

- A. It specifies the applications that are authorized for use on the network.
- B. It defines the suspicious or malicious applications that should be blocked.
- C. It restricts traffic from passing from one network to another.
- D. It allows suspicious applications to run in a safe and isolated testing environment.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The CCST Cybersecurity Study Guide explains that sandboxing is a security technique that executes suspicious programs in a controlled and isolated environment, preventing them from affecting production systems while enabling behavior analysis.

"Sandboxing isolates a suspected application in a secure, controlled environment where it can be executed and analyzed without risking damage to the host system or network." (CCST Cybersecurity, Endpoint Security Concepts, Malware Analysis Techniques section, Cisco Networking Academy)

NEW QUESTION # 149

You are reviewing the Application log on a Windows computer. You see an event with an error-level message as shown.

What can you determine about the application that generated the event message?

- A. The application recovered from an event without loss of functionality.
- B. The application loaded and ran successfully without issues.
- C. The application is currently running much slower than expected.
- D. The application experienced a significant problem that caused it to fail.

Answer: D

Explanation:

In the CCST Cybersecurity course, Windows Event Viewer Error events in the Application log indicate a severe problem that caused an application or component to fail. This usually requires investigation or repair.

"Error events indicate a significant problem such as a loss of functionality in an application or system component. Errors are often critical and need immediate attention." (CCST Cybersecurity, Incident Handling, Event Logging and Analysis section, Cisco Networking Academy) A is incorrect: Performance slowness would usually generate warnings, not errors.

B is correct: An "Error" level in Event Viewer means the application failed in some way.

C is incorrect: That describes an "Information" event, not an error.

D is incorrect: That also corresponds to an "Information" event.

NEW QUESTION # 150

What is a social engineering attack?

- A. An attack that intercepts wireless network packets
- B. An attack that attempts to overload a network with excessive traffic
- C. An attack that manipulates people to obtain sensitive information
- D. An attack that targets physical infrastructure

Answer: C

Explanation:

A social engineering attack is a type of attack that manipulates people to obtain sensitive information or perform actions that could compromise security. This could include techniques such as impersonating trustworthy entities, phishing, baiting, or tailgating. Social engineering attacks exploit human psychology and trust to deceive individuals into revealing confidential details or granting unauthorized access. It is important to be aware of such tactics and exercise caution when dealing with requests for sensitive information.

NEW QUESTION # 151

Which of the following best describes the term "as they occur" in the context of cybersecurity?

- A. Monitoring and analyzing security events in real-time
- B. Developing mitigation strategies for potential security threats
- C. Conducting regular security audits and assessments
- D. Planning and executing incident response procedures

Answer: A

Explanation:

"As they occur" refers to the practice of continuously monitoring and analyzing security events as they happen. This involves setting up systems and tools to detect and alert on potential security incidents in real-time. By identifying and addressing security events promptly, organizations can reduce the impact and minimize potential damage.
