問題 #102

What must be configured on ISE version 2.1 BYOD when using Single SSID?

- A. open authentication
- B. WPA2
- C. 802.1x
- D. no authentication

答案： C

解題說明：

As its name signifies there is only one SSID used for the onboarding, which is secured by 802.1X.

While ISE supports various EAP types for 802.1X authentication, with ISE BYOD, there are three EAP Types that can be used; EAP-TLS, EAP-PEAP-MSCHAPv2, and EAP-FAST. With EAP-TLS ISE identifies itself by providing EAP Identity

- C. channel selection
- D. WLC configuration
- E. packet loss

答案： B,E

問題 #106

Refer to the exhibit. Which COS to DSCP map must be modified to ensure that voice traffic is tagged correctly as it traverses the network?

AL-CORE#show mls qos map cos-dscp
Cos-dscp map:
    cos: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7
-----
    dscp: 8 16 24 32 45 48 56

- A. COS of 3 to DSCP 26
- B. COS of 6 to DSCP 46
- C. COS of 5 to DSCP 46
- D. COS of 7 to DSCP 48

答案： C

解題說明：

In Quality of Service (QoS) for networking, Class of Service (COS) and Differentiated Services Code Point (DSCP) are used for traffic classification and prioritization. Voice traffic is generally given high priority due to its sensitivity to delay and requires proper tagging to maintain quality over the network.

The correct mapping for voice traffic, according to best practices, is a COS value of 5 mapped to a DSCP value of 46. This is because DSCP 46 corresponds to Expedited Forwarding (EF), which is typically used for voice traffic prioritization in IP networks. The exhibit shows the output from a command on a network device that displays the current mappings between COS values and DSCP values. The mapping that needs modification for correct voice traffic tagging can be identified by looking at the standard practice for voice QoS, which uses a COS value of 5 mapped to a DSCP value of 46.
