Cisco Supporting Cisco Devices for Field Technicians Sample Questions (Q88-Q93):

NEW QUESTION # 88
What is the function of an access layer device?

- A. Provides high-speed data transport between buildings or different parts of the campus
- B. Provides secure external access to internal network components
- C. Serves as the entry point for end-user devices to connect to the network
- D. Connects remote offices to the main corporate network

Answer: C

Explanation:
In the hierarchical network design model, the access layer is the first layer and serves as the entry point for end- user devices to connect to the network. This layer connects user devices such as PCs, IP phones, wireless access points, printers, and scanners to the network. It facilitates the initial connection between end-user devices and the network infrastructure. The access layer also enforces security policies and provides services such as VLAN membership, port security, and Quality of Service (QoS).
Options A, C, and D refer to functions typically associated with the core or distribution layers, or with WAN connectivity, rather than the access layer.
