NEW QUESTION # 58

An Order Management System (OMS) handles orders from multiple brandspecific sites, as part of the processing, the OMS sends the processing detail to be added as notes to the orders in B2C Commerce. These processing details are captured temporarily in custom objects, and are later processed by a batch Job that:

- * Processes the custom object to extract the orderid and note data.
- * Tries to load the order.
- * If the order is not found, it deletes the custom object and moves on.

- C. Take the backup of the Order as XML and delete the Order to ensure on the next job run, the custom objects are getting processed.
- D. Take the backup of the custom object and delete the custom object to ensure on the next job run the custom objects are getting processed.
- E. Take the backup of the Order as XML and delete the notes from Order to ensure on the next jobrun the custom objects are getting processed.

Answer: A,D,E

Explanation:

When facing an issue with a growing number of custom objects due to the exceeded quota limit for order notes, effective solutions include:

Option C (Take the backup of the custom object and delete the custom object): This ensures that the data is preserved while freeing up space for new processes and reducing the load, allowing the job to continue running without the impediment of quota limits.

Option D (Engage B2C Commerce Support Team to soften the quota limit for 'object.OrderPO.relation.notes'): Increasing the quota limit can resolve the root cause of the issue by accommodating the actual business needs without compromising the integrity of order processing and note addition.

Option E (Take the backup of the Order as XML and delete the notes from Order): This allows the job to process the custom objects as intended in subsequent runs by clearing out space while ensuring the order data remains intact for business needs.

These steps address the quota limit issue effectively without losing valuable order or note data, ensuring continuity and integrity of business operations.

NEW QUESTION # 59

a B2C Commerce developer has Implemented a job that connects to an SFTP, loops through a specific number of .csv files, and Generates a generic mapping for every file. In order to keep track of the mappings imported, if a generic mapping is created successfully, a custom object instance is created with the .

csv file name. After running the job in the Development instance, the developer checks the Custom Objects in Business Manager and notices there isn't a Custom Object for each csv file that was on SFTP.

What are two possible reasons that some generic mappings were not created? Choose 2 answers

- A. The job needs to run on Staging and then replicate the generic mappings and custom objects on Development
- B. The maximum number of generic mappings was reached.
- C. Invalid format in one or more of the .csv files.
- D. The generic mappings definition needs to be replicated from Staging before running the job.

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

Two plausible reasons for some generic mappings not being created despite the SFTP job running are: A) the system reached its limit for the maximum number of generic mappings allowed, and C) there was an invalid format in one or more of the .csv files processed. When the maximum threshold for mappings is reached, the system cannot create additional mappings, thus stopping any further imports from being registered as custom objects. Additionally, if .csv files are incorrectly formatted, the job would fail to create mappings for those files, leading to the absence of corresponding custom objects in Business Manager. It's crucial to ensure that file formats adhere to expected specifications and that system limits are adequately managed to avoid such issues.
