NEW QUESTION # 33

Which storage solution operates at the file level and contains its own native lightweight operating system on simplified hardware?

- A. standard file server
- B. NAS

- C. SAN
- D. unified fabric

Answer: B

Explanation:

A NAS device is an appliance that directly connects to the network either through a hardwired Ethernet (RJ45) cable or via Wi-Fi, thus creating a LAN instead of WAN. It is assigned an IP address, and data transfer between users, servers, and a NAS via TCP/IP. NAS operates with a traditional file system - either a New Technology File System (NTFS) or NFS for remote file services and data sharing. All storage on the device is accessed at the file level through a file share.

NEW QUESTION # 34

An engineer is implementing an import operation in Cisco UCS Manager. What is the impact of performing this operation?

- A. A configuration can be imported from a higher release to a lower release.
- B. An import operation can be scheduled.
- C. Information can be modified on the management plane only.
- D. Only a configuration file that was exported from the same Cisco UCS Manager can be imported.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The import function is available for all configuration, system configuration, and logical configuration files. You can perform an import while the system is up and running. An import operation modifies information on the management plane only. Some modifications caused by an import operation, such as a change to a vNIC assigned to a server, can cause a server reboot or other operations that disrupt traffic.

- A. Change the supported FEX type.
- B. Set the pinning max-links value to 8.
- C. Statically assign each host interface to a fabric uplink.
- D. Configure the eight uplinks in a port channel.

Answer: D

Explanation:

A fabric interface that fails in the port channel does not trigger a change to the host interfaces.

Traffic is automatically redistributed across the remaining links in the port channel fabric interface.

If all links in the fabric port channel go down, all host interfaces on the FEX are set to the down state.
