A user's availability is calculated as:

- A. Sum of allocated and confirmed hours, divided by the total capacity
- B. Allocated hours divided by the total capacity
- C. Capacity minus allocation
- D. Allocated time

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

According to the ServiceNow documentation¹, a user's availability is calculated as the ratio of allocated hours to total capacity, expressed as a percentage. Allocated hours are the hours that a user is assigned to work on a project or demand. Total capacity is the maximum number of hours that a user can work in a given period, based on their schedule and availability profile. A user's availability indicates how much of their time is already allocated and how much is still available for new assignments.
