Salesforce Certified B2C Commerce Architect Sample Questions (Q21-Q26):

NEW QUESTION # 21

During a technical review, the Client raises a need to display product pricing on the Product Detail Page (PDP) with discounted values per promotion. The Client notes customers complained of bad user experiences in the past when they would add a product to the basket from the cached PDP and then see a higher price when they started checkout as the promotion had expired.

What should the Architect suggest be implemented for this given that performance should be minimally impacted?

- A. Remove caching of the product page during the promotion.
- B. Adjust the PDP to have a low caching period during the promotion.
- C. Modify the page to vary the cache by price and promotion.
- D. Create a separate template or view based on the promotion.

Answer: C

Explanation:

To address the issue of pricing discrepancies on the Product Detail Page (PDP) due to promotions expiring between the page view and checkout, the Architect should suggest modifying the page cache to vary by price and promotion (Answer C). This solution allows the cache to store different versions of the page based on the current price and applicable promotions. By doing so, it ensures that customers always see the most accurate pricing information depending on the active promotions at the time of their visit, thereby improving the user experience and reducing confusion at checkout. This method also minimizes the performance impact compared to completely disabling cache, as it still allows caching but in a more dynamically controlled manner.

NEW QUESTION # 22

An Architect has been asked by the Business to integrate a newpayment LINK cartridge. As part of the integration, the Architect has created four new services to access various endpoints in the integration.

How can the Architect move the new services to Production when the integration is ready for launch?

- A. The new services will be moved to Production with a Data Replication.
- B. The new services will be moved to production with a Site Import.
- C. The new services must be manually exported from staging and Imported into Production.
- D. The new services will be moved to Production with a Code Replication.

Answer: D

Explanation:

For deploying new services related to a payment LINK cartridge to Production, the correct method is through Code Replication (D). This approach ensures that all new code changes, including the integration services, are consistently applied across different environments. Code replication covers deploying all changes made in code, scripts, and service configurations from a staging or development environment to the production environment. This process ensures that all new functionalities are tested in a controlled environment before being moved to production, reducing the risk of errors affecting the live site.

NEW QUESTION # 23

An Architect to notify by the Business that order conversion dramatically dropped a few hours after go live.

Further investigation points out that customers cannot proceed to checkout anymore. The Architect is aware that a custom inventory checks with a third-party API is enforced at the beginning of checkout, and that customers are redirected to the basket page when items are no longer in stock Which tool can clearly confirm that the problem is indeed caused by the inventory check?

- A. Realtime Report from Reports and Dashboards
- B. Pipeline Profiler from Business Manager
- C. Service Status from Business Manager
- D. Sales Dashboard from Reports and Dashboards

Answer: B

Explanation:

The appropriate tool to verify that the problem is indeed caused by the inventory check at the beginning of checkout is the Pipeline Profiler in Business Manager. This tool allows an architect to analyze the performance of specific code execution paths, including those involving third-party API calls. It helps identify bottlenecks and inefficiencies in the pipeline execution, particularly useful in situations where custom code like inventory checks may impact site functionality. The use of the Pipeline Profiler would enable the architect to pinpoint if the custom inventory check is causing the checkout process to fail or redirect users inappropriately.

NEW QUESTION # 24

During the testing of the login form, QA finds out that the first time the user can log in, but every other login attempt from another computer leads to the homepage and the basket being emptied. Developers tried to debug the issue, but when they add a breakpoint to the login action, it is not hit by the debugger.

What should the Architect recommend developers to check?

- A. Check Login Form and any included templates for includes that enable page caching.
- B. Add remote include for the login page
- C. Add disable cache page in the template ISML - `<is:cache status="off"/>`.
- D. Remove CSRF protection from Login Form Action.

Answer: A

Explanation:

When QA encounters issues with login persistence across multiple computers, where subsequent logins lead to a redirection and an emptied basket, the likely culprit could be unintended caching of login-related pages or processes. In Salesforce B2C Commerce, certain cache settings might inadvertently cause user sessions to be shared or not properly invalidated. The recommendation D, to check the login form and related templates for caching directives that might be erroneously caching login actions or user-specific data, addresses this potential issue. Developers should ensure that pages handling user sessions and authentication are configured to disable caching, thus preventing session data from being mistakenly retained or shared across different users.

NEW QUESTION # 25

An integration cartridge implements communication between the B2C Commerce Storefront and a third-party service provider. The cartridge contains the localServiceRegistry code:

How does this code sample accomplish authentication to the service provider?

- A. By performing a signed SOAP Auth request using a certificate.
- B. By wrapping the authentication service call with Basic Auth.
- C. By disabling Basic Auth and executing the service authentication call.
- D. By Issuing a Basic Auth request to the service provider.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The code sample shows the creation of a service request to a third-party service provider, where the authentication method is explicitly set to 'NONE' using the line `svc.setAuthentication("NONE");`. This configuration implies that the request does not use Basic Authentication or any embedded credentials like client ID and secret in the HTTP headers for authentication purposes. Instead, it builds the authentication details into the request body, which suggests that the service expects credentials as part of the payload rather than as part of the standard authentication headers, thus effectively disabling Basic Auth for this transaction.
