CompTIA Data+ Exam (2025) Sample Questions (Q49-Q54):

NEW QUESTION # 49

A data analyst is analyzing the following dataset:

Transaction Date

Quantity

Item

Item Price

12/12/12

11

USB Cords

9.99

11/11/11

3

Charging Block

8.89

10/10/10

5

Headphones

50.15

Which of the following methods should the analyst use to determine the total cost for each transaction?

- A. Deriving
- B. Parsing
- C. Compressing
- D. Scaling

Answer: A

Explanation:

This question falls under the Data Analysis domain, focusing on calculating new values from existing data.

The task is to determine the total cost per transaction, which involves multiplying Quantity by Item Price.

* Parsing (Option A): Parsing involves breaking down data (e.g., splitting a string), not calculating totals.

* Scaling (Option B): Scaling adjusts numerical values to a common range (e.g., normalization), not relevant for calculating totals.

* Compressing (Option C): Compressing reduces data size, not applicable to calculating costs.

* Deriving (Option D): Deriving involves creating new data fields by performing calculations on existing ones (e.g., Total Cost = Quantity × Item Price), which fits the task.

The DA0-002 Data Analysis domain includes "applying the appropriate descriptive statistical methods," such as deriving new fields through calculations to analyze data.

NEW QUESTION # 50

A company has a document that includes the names of key metrics and the standard for how those metrics are calculated company-wide. Which of the following describes this documentation?

- A. Data flow diagram
- B. Data explainability report
- C. Data lineage
- D. Data dictionary

Answer: D

Explanation:

This question falls under the Data Concepts and Environments domain, which involves understanding documentation types related to data management. The document describes key metrics and their calculation standards, which points to a specific type of metadata documentation.

* Data dictionary (Option A): A data dictionary defines data elements, including metrics, their meanings, and calculation methods, ensuring consistency across the organization. This matches the description.

* Data explainability report (Option B): This term is more associated with AI/ML, explaining model decisions, not metric definitions.

* Data lineage (Option C): Data lineage tracks the flow of data through systems, not metric definitions or calculations.

* Data flow diagram (Option D): A data flow diagram visualizes data processes, not metric standards.

The DA0-002 Data Concepts and Environments domain includes understanding "basic concepts of data schemas and dimensions", and a data dictionary is a foundational tool for defining metrics.

NEW QUESTION # 51

Which of the following best represents a type of infrastructure that requires a company to purchase and maintain all of its own servers?

- A. Hybrid
- B. Public
- C. Private
- D. Cloud

Answer: C

Explanation:

This question pertains to the Data Concepts and Environments domain, focusing on types of server infrastructure. The task is to identify an infrastructure where a company owns and maintains all servers.

* Private (Option A): A private infrastructure (often on-premises) means the company owns and maintains its own servers, typically in a private data center, which matches the requirement.

* Cloud (Option B): Cloud infrastructure is managed by third-party providers, not owned by the company.

* Hybrid (Option C): Hybrid combines on-premises and cloud, so not all servers are owned by the company.

* Public (Option D): Public infrastructure is a cloud model shared across multiple organizations, not owned by the company.

The DA0-002 Data Concepts and Environments domain includes understanding "data environments," and a private infrastructure requires the company to purchase and maintain its own servers.

NEW QUESTION # 52

Which of the following best describes an assessment a data analyst would use to validate that the number of records in a dataset matches the expected results?

- A. Stress test
- B. Health check
- C. Unit test
- D. Source control

Answer: C

Explanation:

This question pertains to the Data Governance domain, focusing on data quality validation techniques. The task is to validate that the number of records matches expectations, which requires a specific type of assessment.

* Source control (Option A): Source control (e.g., Git) manages code versions, not dataset validation.

* Unit test (Option B): A unit test checks a specific component of a process, such as verifying that the number of records in a dataset matches the expected count, making it the best fit.

* Stress test (Option C): Stress tests evaluate system performance under load, not record counts.

* Health check (Option D): A health check monitors system status but isn't specific to validating record counts.

The DA0-002 Data Governance domain includes "data quality control concepts," and unit tests are a standard method for validating specific data outcomes like record counts.

NEW QUESTION # 53

A manager needs a report to be sent by email every Monday for the next six months. Which of the following is the best way to accomplish this task?

- A. Developing a recurring process
- B. Waiting for the request each week
- C. Creating a data snapshot
- D. Building self-service access

Answer: A

Explanation:

This question falls under the Visualization and Reporting domain, focusing on report delivery methods. The task requires a report to be emailed every Monday for six months, indicating a scheduled, repeating process.

* Building self-service access (Option A): Self-service allows users to generate reports on-demand, but the manager wants automatic delivery.

* Creating a data snapshot (Option B): A snapshot captures data at a specific point, not suitable for recurring delivery over six months.

* Developing a recurring process (Option C): A recurring process schedules the report to be generated and emailed every Monday, meeting the requirement for automated delivery over six months.

* Waiting for the request each week (Option D): This is manual and inefficient, not suitable for a six-month schedule.

The DA0-002 Visualization and Reporting domain includes "the appropriate visualization in the form of a report" with delivery methods, and a recurring process is ideal for scheduled email delivery.
