ISQI ISTQB Foundation Level - Acceptance Testing Sample Questions (Q76-Q81):

NEW QUESTION # 76

As a tester you are part of a development team for health monitoring system to record and synchronize various health parameters, calculate health score and provide practical advice on how to maintain and improve health. You are asked to review the acceptance criteria for the following user story:

US23; As a user of the system. I can monitor my blood pressure and obtain alerts in case of excessive pressure, in order to prevent the risk associated with hypertension.

Which of the following is NOT a good example of an acceptance criterion for this requirement?

- A. The system should be developed using Java script framework to allow fast response times
- B. The alert thresholds depend on the following user's personal settings: age, weight and gender
- C. The monitoring system displays the heart rate together with the blood pressure
- D. People with hypertension are advised to get their blood pressure checked at least thrice a week

Answer: A

Explanation:

Acceptance criteria describe what the system must do to fulfill a requirement from the user or business perspective. They must be observable, testable, and relevant to the business outcome or expected behavior.

In this scenario, the user story is about monitoring blood pressure and receiving alerts for excessive pressure.

The acceptance criteria should focus on system behavior, thresholds, and how alerts are triggered based on user settings.

Option D is not a good acceptance criterion because:

It specifies a technical implementation detail (JavaScript framework), which is not the concern of acceptance testing.

Acceptance criteria should not prescribe how the system is built, but what it must do from a business or user point of view.

Other options (A, B, and C) all reflect testable and behavior-focused outcomes linked to the user story's goal.

D). The system should be developed using JavaScript framework to allow fast response times

NEW QUESTION # 77

Which one of the following statements regarding the quality of requirements is MOST correct?

- A. INVEST is a technique that ensure the quality of user stories or requirements, thus replacing regular reviews.
- B. In Agile development lifecycle models, requirement engineering becomes less important due to the product owner role.
- C. Testers may complete unclear requirements by assumptions, as long as they discuss those assumptions with at least one stakeholder.
- D. Vague or ambiguous requirements may lead to misunderstandings both during implementation and testing.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Poorly defined requirements are a leading cause of defects and project failure. According to the ISTQB CTFL Acceptance Testing Syllabus and IQBBA FL Syllabus, the quality of requirements plays a critical role in successful solution development and acceptance testing. Requirements must be clear, unambiguous, complete, and testable. When they are vague or ambiguous, stakeholders may interpret them differently, which can lead to incorrect implementations, inadequate testing, and ultimately rework or rejection during acceptance.

Option A is explicitly supported by the ISTQB Foundation Syllabus and IQBBA principles. In contrast:

Option B is incorrect because Agile lifecycles still place great emphasis on requirement engineering, even though requirements evolve iteratively.

Option C misrepresents INVEST: it is a guideline for writing good user stories but does not replace reviews or validation techniques.

Option D is risky and not endorsed by ISTQB. While testers may identify ambiguities, the correct approach is to clarify them with all relevant stakeholders, not make assumptions.

Exact Reference - ISTQB CTFL Acceptance Testing Syllabus (Section 1.3.1):

"Ambiguous, incomplete, or inconsistent requirements increase the risk of misunderstanding between stakeholders, leading to incorrect implementation and ineffective tests."

NEW QUESTION # 78

Which one of the following statements regarding the graphical representation of business processes is true?

- A. Using decision tables in BPMN allows defining test conditions corresponding to the business rules under test.
- B. For acceptance testing, graphical business process models should focus on the user workflows to be tested.
- C. Graphical representations of business processes must describe the complete workflow in detail, including alternative and error scenarios.
- D. Business processes should be described graphically using the DMN standard and completed with decision tables.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 79

Which of the following sentences explains BEST how business process and business rule modeling can be used for ATDD?

- A. In an ATDD approach, business process models replace acceptance criteria.
- B. In an ATDD approach, process models are created for initial test design but are not maintained afterwards.
- C. In an ATDD approach, testers use business process and business rule models to generate acceptance tests.

- D. In an ATDD approach, business process/rule models must be created before the project starts.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Acceptance Test-Driven Development (ATDD) is a collaborative approach in which acceptance criteria are defined early, often before implementation starts. Business process models (e.g., BPMN) and business rule models (e.g., DMN) are essential tools to formalize how the system should behave under various conditions.

In ATDD, these models provide a structured representation of system workflows and decision logic, which can then be used by testers and stakeholders to derive or generate acceptance tests. This ensures that testing is aligned with actual business processes and requirements.

Option C is correct because it aligns with the purpose of ATDD: to use business models as a foundation for deriving acceptance tests in collaboration with business analysts, testers, and developers.

Other options:

A is incorrect - models are created as part of the project, not necessarily before it starts.

B is incorrect - models support and clarify acceptance criteria; they do not replace them.

D is incorrect - models are maintained as living documentation, especially in agile and iterative approaches.

C). In an ATDD approach, testers use business process and business rule models to generate acceptance tests.

NEW QUESTION # 80

As a tester on an Agile project, you have to perform an exploratory test session for a new feature developed.

Which of the following actions is the LEAST likely to be carried out for the purpose.

- A. Preparation of a test charter and review with the Product Owner
- B. Scripting of the automated test scripts
- C. Discovering and learning the use of the product
- D. Performing the tests and reporting the results

Answer: B

Explanation:

Exploratory testing is an unscripted, experience-based testing technique where the tester learns about the system, designs tests, and executes them simultaneously. It is especially effective in Agile environments, where rapid feedback and creative exploration are valuable.

Option D is the least likely action because scripting automated test scripts is a structured activity that typically occurs after exploratory sessions or during more formal test phases. Exploratory testing emphasizes manual exploration, not automation scripting.

Other options:

A is part of the core purpose of exploratory testing - discovering the product.

B is relevant - defining a charter and discussing it with stakeholders (like the Product Owner) helps guide the exploratory session.

C is also relevant - results of exploratory tests should be documented and communicated.

D). Scripting of the automated test scripts
