Salesforce Certified Education Cloud Consultant Sample Questions (Q66-Q71):

NEW QUESTION # 66

A university plans to implement Salesforce. The project lead is drafting a communication plan and has asked the consultant to provide examples of communications to send after implementation.

Which communication example should a consultant recommend?

- A. Project sponsor profile
- B. Teaser email
- C. User contest

Answer: C

Explanation:

User contest and post go-live recap are two communication examples that the consultant can recommend to send after implementation. User contest is a type of communication that encourages users to participate in a competition or a challenge related to using Salesforce, such as completing a certain number of tasks, earning badges on Trailhead, or submitting feedback or ideas. User contest can help increase user engagement, adoption, and satisfaction with Salesforce. Post go-live recap is a type of communication that summarizes the results and outcomes of the implementation project, such as key achievements, lessons learned, success stories, or next steps. Post go-live recap can help celebrate the project completion, acknowledge the project team and stakeholders, and provide guidance for future improvements. Teaser email and project sponsor profile are two communication examples that the consultant can recommend to send before implementation. Reference:

NEW QUESTION # 67

A consultant is writing an Apex class to run when a new Contact is created in a Salesforce environment where Education Data Architecture (EDA) is in use.

What should the consultant do to ensure the code executes in the order intended?

- A. Use Table-Driven Trigger Management (TDTM) to set the order of execution.
- B. Go to EDA Settings to set the order of execution.
- C. Write an Apex trigger to set the order of execution.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Table-Driven Trigger Management (TDTM) is a tool to manage the code in Salesforce and control how Apex behaves⁵. TDTM allows the consultant to easily rearrange the order of things via a table in the Salesforce interface (hence, the "Table-Driven" in TDTM)⁶. With TDTM, the consultant can tell the Apex trigger: do X first, then Y, then Z, without writing any code⁶. TDTM is part of the Education Data Architecture (EDA) and can be accessed from EDA Settings⁵. Reference:

NEW QUESTION # 68

A large online university uses Salesforce with the Education Data Architecture (EDA) to manage its operations. Its Salesforce environment has a large volume of records and it takes a long time to search and generate list views.

Which feature should the consultant use to resolve the issue?

- A. Custom Index
- B. Table-Driven Trigger Management
- C. MuleSoft Anypoint Platform
- D. Data Loader error logs

Answer: A

Explanation:

The consultant should use a custom index to resolve the issue of taking a long time to search and generate list views for the large online university's Salesforce environment that has a large volume of records and uses EDA. A custom index is a feature that allows users to create an index on a field that is not indexed by default, such as a custom field, a long text area field, or a multi-select picklist field. A custom index can help improve the performance and speed of queries and list views that use the indexed field as a filter. The consultant should identify the fields that are frequently used in searches and list views, and request Salesforce Support to create a custom index on them. MuleSoft Anypoint Platform, Data Loader error logs, and Table-Driven Trigger Management are not features that can resolve the issue of taking a long time to search and generate list views for the large online university's Salesforce environment that has a large volume of records and uses EDA. NEW QUESTION # 69

A university is implementing a student community and rolling it out to 20,000 students. The IT manager is concerned about the large increase in users accessing the system at any one time.

Which step should the consultant recommend?

- A. Develop a Performance Testing Strategy.
- B. Use a third-party testing automation tool.
- C. Log a case with Salesforce Support to increase limits.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 70

A consultant is working with a customer who already uses Salesforce and wants to install the Education Data Architecture (EDA). The consultant has confirmed that EDA can work in the customer's existing environment.

Which location should the consultant visit to install EDA in the existing environment?

- A. Partner Community
- B. Trailhead
- C. Salesforce AppExchange

Answer: C

Explanation:

The Salesforce AppExchange is the location that the consultant should visit to install EDA in the existing environment. The Salesforce AppExchange is an online marketplace where customers can find, try, and install apps, components, and packages that extend the functionality of Salesforce. EDA is listed as a free app for education customers on the Salesforce AppExchange. The consultant can use the EDA installer page, which is a web-based tool that allows the consultant to log in to the desired org, validate the pre-install requirements, and install EDA with a few clicks. The EDA installer page can be accessed from the Salesforce AppExchange or from the direct link2.
