NEW QUESTION # 18

You want to combine external data with internal data via product ID. Although the data may be inconsistent, such as the external data contains the letter "O" where the internal data contains the digit 0, you still want to combine them. Which artifact should you use for matching?

- A. Intelligent Lookup
- B. Entity Relationship Model
- C. Analytic Model
- D. Graphical View

Answer: A

Explanation:

When faced with the challenge of combining data from different sources where the matching keys (like "Product ID") are inconsistent or contain variations (e.g., "O" vs. "0"), the recommended artifact in SAP Datasphere for such fuzzy or approximate matching scenarios is an Intelligent Lookup. An Intelligent Lookup (D) leverages machine learning capabilities to identify and map records that are semantically similar but not exact matches. Unlike standard joins in graphical views or SQL views which require precise key matches, Intelligent Lookups can handle data quality issues, typos, and variations, allowing you to successfully link disparate records that would otherwise be missed. This is particularly valuable when integrating data from external systems or legacy sources where perfect data standardization is not feasible, ensuring a more comprehensive and accurate combined dataset for analysis.

NEW QUESTION # 19

What are some use cases for an SAP Datasphere task chain? Note: There are 3 correct answers to this question.

- A. Upload a CSV file into a local table
- B. Execute a data action for a planning function
- C. Run an Open SQL Schema Procedure
- D. Execute a Replication Flow and Transformation Flow in sequence
- E. Create or Refresh View Persistency

Answer: C,D,E

Explanation:

SAP Datasphere task chains are powerful tools for orchestrating and automating sequences of operations, making them ideal for managing complex data pipelines and recurring processes. One key use case is to Create or Refresh View Persistency (A). If you have views for which you want to persist the data (materialize them into tables) for performance or specific analytical needs, a task chain can automate the scheduled recreation or refresh of these persistent views. Another common use case is to Execute a Replication Flow and Transformation Flow in sequence (C). This allows you to define a process where data is first replicated from a source system into Datasphere, and then immediately followed by transformation steps to cleanse, enrich, or aggregate that data, ensuring a fully automated end-to-end data preparation. Furthermore, task chains can be used to Run an Open SQL Schema Procedure (D). This provides flexibility to integrate custom SQL logic or stored procedures into an automated workflow, enabling advanced data manipulation or administrative tasks. Uploading a CSV file (B) is typically a manual import action, and executing a data action for a planning function (E) relates to planning models, not general Datasphere task chains.
