NEW QUESTION # 98
According to AVIXA's AV Performance Verification standard, at what point should the loudspeaker transformer tap setting be verified?

- A. Pre-integration
- B. Post-integration
- C. Systems integration
- D. Closeout

Answer: C

Explanation:
The systems integration phase is when devices are installed and configured together. Verifying loudspeaker transformer taps during this phase ensures that each speaker receives the correct power level, which is critical for achieving uniform audio coverage and system performance.
"Loudspeaker transformer taps should be verified during the systems integration phase to ensure proper audio balance and coverage before final verification."

NEW QUESTION # 99
A client wants a third-party commitment that a project will be completed as per contract and protection against losses if it is not. What document should they request from their supplier?

- A. performance bond (guarantee)
- B. quality assurance checklist
- C. statement of qualification
- D. liability policy

Answer: A

Explanation:
A performance bond provides a third-party guarantee that the contractor will complete the project as specified in the contract and offers protection against financial losses if the project is not completed. This bond ensures that the client has recourse if the contractor fails to meet contractual obligations.
CTS Technology Specialist ReferenceCTS study materials note that performance bonds are commonly requested in construction and large AV projects to provide clients with financial protection and assurance of project completion.

NEW QUESTION # 100
What is defined by a work breakdown structure (WBS)?

- A. Project budget
- B. Project schedule
- C. Project resources
- D. Project scope

Answer: D

A Work Breakdown Structure (WBS) is a hierarchical decomposition of the total scope of work to be carried out by the project team. It breaks down the project into smaller, more manageable components, providing a structured vision of what has to be delivered.

NEW QUESTION # 101
An AV system has a dedicated managed switch with an IP address scheme of 192.168.10.0/24, but one component is not talking to the rest of the system. What network property should be checked to ensure it connects to the rest of the system?

- A. Subnet
- B. QoS
- C. VLAN
- D. Gateway

Answer: A

Explanation:
All devices must share the same subnet to communicate. If a device is on a different subnet (e.g., 192.168.20.
x instead of 192.168.10.x), it won't communicate with others unless routing is configured.
"Mismatch in subnet masks or incorrect subnet addresses is a common cause of connectivity issues in AV networks."
- CTS Exam Guide, Networking and IP Configuration Essentials

NEW QUESTION # 102
A customer wants to reuse existing network cabling to extend audio and video signals in a system refresh.
What is the PRIMARY concern?

- A. cable labeling
- B. cable condition
- C. cable connection
- D. cable color

Answer: B

Explanation:
When reusing existing network cabling, the primary concern is cable condition, as it directly affects signal integrity and performance. Damaged or deteriorated cables can lead to transmission issues, especially for audio and video signals, which require reliable connectivity.
CTS Technology Specialist ReferenceCTS materials emphasize inspecting cable conditions for any AV project, particularly when reusing existing infrastructure, to ensure the system will function as intended without signal degradation or reliability issues.
