CompTIA Cloud+ (2025) Sample Questions (Q36-Q41):

NEW QUESTION # 36

Which of the following technologies should be used by a person who is visually impaired to access data from the cloud?

- A. Sentiment analysis
- B. Text-to-voice
- C. Object character recognition
- D. Visual recognition

Answer: B

Explanation:

Text-to-voice (or text-to-speech) technology should be used by a person who is visually impaired to access data from the cloud. It converts text data into audible speech, allowing visually impaired individuals to receive the information audibly.

NEW QUESTION # 37

A systems administrator is using VMs to deploy a new solution that contains a number of application VMs. Which of the following would provide high availability to the application environment in case of hypervisor failure?

- A. Cold migration
- B. Affinity rules
- C. Anti-affinity rules
- D. Live migration

Answer: C

Explanation:

Anti-affinity rules help ensure high availability by preventing multiple application VMs from running on the same hypervisor host. In case of hypervisor failure, this reduces the likelihood of all application VMs being affected, as they would be running on separate hosts. This allows for increased redundancy and fault tolerance in the application environment.

NEW QUESTION # 38

An IT security team wants to ensure that the correct parties are informed when a specific user account is signed in. Which of the following would most likely allow an administrator to address this concern?

- A. Creating an alert based on user sign-in criteria
- B. Aggregating user sign-in logs from all systems
- C. Configuring the retention of all sign-in logs
- D. Enabling the collection of user sign-in logs

Answer: A

Explanation:

To ensure that the correct parties are informed when a specific user account is signed in, the best action is to create an alert based on user sign-in criteria. This alert can notify administrators or security personnel when the specified event occurs.

NEW QUESTION # 39

Which of the following are best practices when working with a source control system? (Select two).

- A. Pushing code directly to production
- B. Initiating a pull request
- C. Committing code often
- D. Merging code often
- E. Performing code deployment
- F. Maintaining one branch for all features

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

Best practices when working with a source control system include merging code often to ensure that changes from different team members are integrated regularly, reducing integration issues. Committing code often is also recommended to save small changes frequently, which helps in tracking changes and resolving issues more effectively.References: Source control system best practices are part of the software development and deployment guidelines discussed in the CompTIA Cloud+ examination objectives.

NEW QUESTION # 40
An on-premises data center is located in an earthquake-prone location. The workload consists of real-time, online transaction processing. Which ot the following data protection strategies should be used to back up on-premises data to the cloud while also being cost effective?

- A. A copy that is RAID 1 protected on spinning drives in an on-premises private cloud
- B. A full backup to on-site tape libraries in a private cloud
- C. Air-gapped protection to provide cyber resiliency
- D. Remote replication for failover

Answer: D

Explanation:
Remote replication for failover is the data protection strategy that should be used to back up on-premises data to the cloud for an earthquake-prone location. It provides real-time or near-real-time copying of data to a remote location, which can be quickly activated in case the primary site fails.
Reference: Disaster recovery strategies, including remote replication for failover, are part of the cloud-based data protection methods covered in the CompTIA Cloud+ certification.
