NEW QUESTION # 122

A Delta Live Table pipeline includes two datasets defined using STREAMING LIVE TABLE. Three datasets are defined against Delta Lake table sources using LIVE TABLE.

The table is configured to run in Development mode using the Continuous Pipeline Mode.

Assuming previously unprocessed data exists and all definitions are valid, what is the expected outcome after clicking Start to update the pipeline?

- A. All datasets will be updated once and the pipeline will shut down. The compute resources will persist to allow for additional testing.
- B. All datasets will be updated at set intervals until the pipeline is shut down. The compute resources will persist to allow for additional testing.
- C. All datasets will be updated once and the pipeline will persist without any processing. The compute resources will persist but go unused.
- D. All datasets will be updated once and the pipeline will shut down. The compute resources will be terminated.
- E. All datasets will be updated at set intervals until the pipeline is shut down. The compute resources will persist until the pipeline is shut down.

Answer: E

Explanation:

The Continuous Pipeline Mode for Delta Live Tables allows the pipeline to run continuously and process data as it arrives. This mode is suitable for streaming ingest and CDC workloads that require low-latency updates.

The Development mode for Delta Live Tables allows the pipeline to run on a dedicated cluster that is not shared with other pipelines. This mode is useful for testing and debugging the pipeline logic before deploying it to production. Therefore, the correct answer is B, because the pipeline will run continuously on a dedicated cluster until it is manually stopped, and the compute resources will be released only after the pipeline is shut down.
