NEW QUESTION # 128

Which of the following circumstances would cause a breach of confidentiality?

- A. Supplying payroll records to the company's legal department
- B. Providing benefit election information to an employee's spouse
- C. Sharing general ledger costing data with the accounting department
- D. Furnishing payment history on a written authorization to a mortgage company

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation:

Payroll confidentiality ensures employee information is only disclosed with proper authorization.

Option A (Payment history with written authorization) is NOT a breach because the employee provided consent.

Option C (General ledger costing shared with accounting) is NOT a breach since accounting requires financial data for compliance.

Option D (Payroll records to legal department) is NOT a breach as legal teams need data for investigations.

Option B (Providing benefit election information to a spouse) is a breach unless the employee has explicitly authorized their spouse to receive this information.

NEW QUESTION # 129

What information is reported to the IRS on Form 1094-C?

- A. Employee FITW
- B. Basic employer information and number of employees
- C. FUTA wages
- D. Payments made to the beneficiary of a deceased employee

Answer: B

Explanation:

* Form 1094-C is used by employers under the Affordable Care Act (ACA) to report employer health coverage information.

* It includes basic employer details, employee counts, and ACA compliance data.

* Employee FITW (B), FUTA wages (C), and deceased employee payments (D) are NOT reported on Form 1094-C.

References:

* IRS Form 1094-C Instructions

* ACA Compliance Guidelines (Payroll.org)

NEW QUESTION # 130

A payroll employee has just entered a group of timecards for one of their 25 retail stores. What is the BEST way to verify that the data was entered accurately?

- A. Check totals on the check register
- B. Review a few employees from the batch

- C. Review earnings report after payroll is processed
- D. Run a batch total report

Answer: D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation:

The best way to verify payroll accuracy is to run a batch total report (Option D) because it:

Compares actual payroll totals to expected amounts

Identifies discrepancies before payroll processing

Option A (Review a few employees) is insufficient because errors in other records might be missed.

Option A (View a few employees) is available because Option B (Check Register) occurs after payroll is processed.

Option C (Earnings Report) is useful but is generated after payroll is processed, making corrections harder.

Option C (
