CompTIA Project+ Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q384-Q389):

NEW QUESTION # 384

As a result of an approved change, the project manager updates the project plan with the newest project end date. Which of the following change control processes should the project manager complete NEXT?

- A. Conduct an impact assessment.
- B. Communicate the change deployment.
- C. Document the request in the change control log.
- D. Implement the change.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The project manager should communicate the change deployment next after updating the project plan with the newest project end date as a result of an approved change. Communicating the change deployment involves informing all relevant parties about when and how the change will be implemented and what are the expected outcomes and benefits. Communicating the change deployment can help to ensure alignment, readiness, and support for the change and avoid any confusion or resistance.

NEW QUESTION # 385

A team member identifies a critical issue in production. Which of the following should the project manager apply?

- A. Compliance check
- B. Validation check
- C. Release plan
- D. Rollback plan

Answer: D

Explanation:

A rollback plan, also known as a backout plan, is a strategy designed to reverse changes made during a project in case of failure or undesired results¹. A rollback plan is a form of risk response that allows the project to restore the previous state and minimize the impact of the issue. A rollback plan is usually created during the planning phase and implemented during the execution or closing phase of the project. The other options are not correct because:

A compliance check is a process that ensures that the project meets the relevant standards, regulations, and requirements. A compliance check is not a risk response, but rather a quality control or assurance activity.

A release plan is a document that outlines the scope, schedule, and resources for delivering a product or service to the customer. A release plan is not a risk response, but rather a communication or scope management tool.

A validation check is a process that verifies that the project deliverables meet the customer's needs and expectations. A validation check is not a risk response, but rather a quality control or assurance activity. NEW QUESTION # 386

A PM is responsible for implementing a new customer relationship management system and has learned that the sales organization is reluctant to utilize the new system. The organization's reluctance could jeopardize the success of the project. Which of the following steps should be taken to understand the adoption issues and gain organizational acceptance of the initiative? (Select TWO).

- A. Track system usage and report user activity.
- B. Create a memorandum of acceptable use.
- C. Train users on the proper use of the system.
- D. Escalate the issue to the CCB
- E. Hold sessions to understand user challenges.
- F. Log the issue in the project risk register.

Answer: A,E

Explanation:

The project manager should hold sessions to understand user challenges and track system usage and report user activity. These steps will help the project manager to identify the root causes of the adoption issues and monitor the progress of the system utilization. They will also help to communicate with the sales organization and provide feedback and support¹²

NEW QUESTION # 387

Two project team members are assigned to set up new work areas and are disagreeing about the placement of hardware and peripherals at the end users' desks. The requirements do not specify where to place the items, just what is needed in each space. Which of the following should the project manager do to resolve the conflict?

- A. Facilitate a meeting between team members to review the pros and cons of the different configurations so as to encourage an amicable solution.
- B. Send out a survey to the potential end users to gather information about the best functional setup for work productivity.
- C. Explain to team members that the placement of the items is not too important, as long as everything is connected and working.
- D. Provide clear instructions based on personal preference and aesthetics for setup of the work areas.

Answer: A

Explanation:

This answer is based on the best practice of conflict resolution in project management, which is to use a collaborative or problem-solving approach that seeks a win-win outcome for all parties involved¹². By facilitating a meeting, the project manager can help the team members communicate effectively, understand each other's perspectives, and find a mutually acceptable solution that meets the project requirements. This way, the project manager can also maintain team morale and cohesion, and avoid imposing a decision that may cause resentment or dissatisfaction among the team members³. NEW QUESTION # 388

A project manager sent equipment to a global project team for testing purposes. Only 70% of the project team received the equipment for testing. Which of the following considerations is impacting the rest of the team?

- A. Quality assurance
- B. State privacy acts
- C. Country legal regulations
- D. Organizational branding restrictions

Answer: C

Explanation:

Country legal regulations. Country legal regulations are impacting the rest of the team that did not receive the equipment for testing. Country legal regulations are rules and laws that govern how businesses operate in different countries. They may include aspects such as customs, tariffs, taxes, import and export restrictions, data protection, intellectual property rights, and environmental standards. Country legal regulations can affect the delivery and use of equipment for a global project team and may require compliance with different procedures and documentation³
