NEW QUESTION # 333

What is the difference between SNMP and model-driven telemetry?

- A. Telemetry allows for modeled network data to be pushed to the network administrator on an as-needed basis.
- B. Telemetry uses traps and inform messages to deliver data to a network administrator on a polling basis.
- C. SNMP pushes network data to the network administrator whenever it is queried.
- D. SNMP uses the YANG data modeling language.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Section: Automation and Assurance

NEW QUESTION # 334

NEW QUESTION # 335

Refer to the exhibit. Company A has two offices that communicate via a service provider in AS 65516. CE1 and CE2 provide connections to the service provider from site 1 and site 2 respectively. Both customer sites use BGP as the PE-CE routing protocol. Which configuration must the engineer apply to ensure that traffic passes between the two sites?

- A. CE1(config)#router bgp 65514
CE1(config-router)#neighbor 192.168.1.2 next-hop-self
CE2(config)#router bgp 65514
CE2(config-router)#neighbor 192.168.2.2 next-hop-self
- B. CE2(config)#router bgp 65514
CE2(config-router)#neighbor 192.168.1.1 as-override
- C. CE1(config)#router bgp 65514
CE1(config-router)#neighbor 192.168.1.2 allowas-in
- D. PE2(config)#router bgp 65516
PE2(config-router)#neighbor 192.168.1.1 next-hop-self
PE4(config)#router bgp 65516
PE4(config-router)#neighbor 192.168.2.1 next-hop-self

Answer: C

Explanation:

Because both CE routers share AS-65514, routes learned via the SP (AS-65516) carry AS-65514 in their AS-PATH and would be rejected as loops. Applying neighbor <PE-IP> allowas-in on the CE lets it accept prefixes that contain its own AS in the path, so CE1 can learn the Site-2 routes (and likewise you would mirror it on CE2 for Site-1).

CE1(config)# router bgp 65514

CE1(config-router)# neighbor 192.168.1.2 allowas-in

NEW QUESTION # 336

Refer to the exhibit. A network operator is attempting to configure an IS-IS adjacency between two routers, but the adjacency cannot be established. To troubleshoot the problem, the operator collects this debugging output.

Which interfaces are misconfigured on these routers?

- A. The R2 interface is configured as point-to-point, and the peer router interface is configured as multipoint.
- B. The R2 interface is configured as Level 1 only, and the peer router interface is configured as Level 2 only.
- C. The peer router interface is configured as point-to-point, and the R2 interface is configured as multipoint.
- D. The peer router interface is configured as Level 1 only, and the R2 interface is configured as Level 2 only.

Answer: B

Explanation:

We see the both routers are send P2P hello. But R2 is Sending L1 and received from peer L2.
