CompTIA Cloud+ (2025) Sample Questions (Q302-Q307):

NEW QUESTION # 302

Which of the following is used to detect signals and measure physical properties, such as the temperature of the human body?

- A. Transmission protocols
- B. Sensors
- C. Gateways
- D. Beacon

Answer: B

Explanation:
Sensors are used to detect signals and measure physical properties, such as temperature. They are devices that respond to a physical stimulus (like heat, light, sound, pressure, magnetism, or a particular motion) and transmit a resulting impulse for detection and measurement.
The use of sensors in cloud environments, particularly in IoT (Internet of Things) applications, is included in the technical domains of the CompTIA Cloud+ material.

NEW QUESTION # 303
A company's website suddenly crashed. A cloud engineer investigates the following logs:

Which of the following is the most likely cause of the issue?

- A. Cross-site scripting
- B. DDoS
- C. SQL injection
- D. Leaked credentials

Answer: B

Explanation:
The logs indicate a sudden surge in access requests to the website's homepage, followed by 502 errors, which are indicative of server overload or failure to handle incoming requests. This pattern is typical of a Distributed Denial of Service (DDoS) attack, where multiple compromised systems flood the target with traffic, exceeding its capacity to handle requests, leading to service disruption.

NEW QUESTION # 304
A cloud deployment uses three different VPCs. The subnets on each VPC need to communicate with the others over private channels. Which of the following will achieve this objective?

- A. Deploying a load balancer to send traffic to the private IP addresses
- B. Creating peering connections between all VPCs
- C. Adding BGP routes using the VPCs' private IP addresses
- D. Establishing identical routing tables on all VPCs

Answer: B

Explanation:
To allow subnets on different VPCs to communicate with each other over private channels, the cloud engineer should create peering connections between all the VPCs. VPC Peering allows networks to connect and route traffic using private IP addresses without the need for gateways, VPN connections, or separate physical hardware.

NEW QUESTION # 305
An organization wants to ensure its data is protected in the event of a natural disaster. To support this effort, the company has rented a colocation space in another part of the country. Which of the following disaster recovery practices can be used to best protect the data?

- A. Off-site
- B. Replication
- C. On-site
- D. Retention

Answer: A

Explanation:
For an organization looking to protect its data in the event of a natural disaster, the best disaster recovery practice would be off-site replication. By renting a colocation space in another part of the country, the company can maintain copies of their data and critical systems in a geographically separate location, ensuring they are not affected by the same disaster. NEW QUESTION # 306
An administrator is creating a cron job that shuts down the virtual machines at night to save on costs. Which of the following is the best way to achieve this task?

- A.

for X in list_vms() do
if [ describe_vm_status(X) != running] shutdown_vm(X)
else
    echo "vm $X stopped"
done
```

- B.

for X in list_vms() do
if [ describe_vm_status(X) || running]
    shutdown_vm(X)
else
    echo "vm $X stopped"
done
```

- C.

for X in list_vms() do
if [ describe_vm_status(X) == running]
    shutdown_vm(X)
else
    echo "vm $X stopped"
done
```

- D.

for X in list_vms() do
if [ describe_vm_status(X) > running]
    shutdown_vm(X)
else
    echo "vm $X stopped"
done
```

Answer: C

Explanation:
Option C is the correct script for shutting down virtual machines that are currently running. It iterates through a list of VMs, checks if the status of each VM is 'running', and if so, proceeds to shut down the VM. The script then prints a message stating that the VM has been stopped. This approach ensures that only VMs that are actively running are targeted for shutdown, optimizing resource utilization and cost savings.
