What tool or mechanism should be used to verify that the deployment is successful?

- A. Salesforce Inspector
- B. Force.com Migration Tool
- C. Apex Test Execution
- D. Salesforce DX CLI

Answer: D

developer to run specified tests and ensure that the deployment meets all required conditions for success.

NEW QUESTION # 100

A developer is tasked with creating a Lightning web component that allows users to create a Case for a selected product, directly from a custom Lightning page. The input fields in the component are displayed in a non-linear fashion on top of an image of the product to help the user better understand the meaning of the fields.

Which two components should a developer use to implement the creation of the Case from the Lightning web component?

Choose 2 answers

- A. lightning-record-form
- B. lightning-input-field
- C. Lightning-input
- D. Lightning-record-edit-form

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

To implement a Lightning web component that allows users to create a Case, you would need components that allow for input fields and the creation of records.

Option C (Lightning-input) is correct because it allows developers to create custom form input elements that can be positioned in a non-linear fashion as required.

Option D (lightning-record-form) is correct because it provides a simple way to create forms for viewing and editing Salesforce records and would be suitable for creating a new Case record.

Option A (Lightning-record-edit-form) is not a valid component; it seems to be a misprint of lightning-record-edit-form, which is indeed a component used for creating and editing records but was not listed as an option.

Option B (lightning-input-field) is used within the lightning-record-edit-form or lightning-record-view-form components to create editable or displayable fields respectively, but is not as versatile as lightning-input for custom layout purposes.

Lightning Web Components Documentation: Lightning-input

NEW QUESTION # 101

A developer wrote a trigger on Opportunity that will update a custom Last Sold Date field on the Opportunity's Account whenever an Opportunity is closed. In the test class for the trigger, the assertion to validate the Last Sold Date field fails.

What might be causing the failed assertion?

- A. The test class has not implemented seealldata=true in the test method.
- B. The test class has not re-queried the Account record after updating the Opportunity.
- C. The test class is not using System.runs() to run tests as a Salesforce administrator.
- D. The test class has not defined an Account owner when inserting the test data.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The test class may not be re-querying the Account record after updating the Opportunity, which is necessary to verify the updated field values. If the test does not query the database to get the most recent data after the trigger runs, it will not see the changes made by the trigger.
