Microsoft DP-900 (Microsoft Azure Data Fundamentals) Exam is an entry-level certification exam offered by Microsoft that is designed for individuals who are looking to demonstrate their foundational knowledge of data concepts and how they can be implemented using Microsoft Azure data services. DP-900 exam is intended for candidates who want to build a career in data and analytics, or for those who are beginning to work with Azure data services and need to validate their understanding of the fundamentals.

The DP-900 Exam covers the basics of data storage and processing in Azure, including data ingestion, transformation, and integration. It also covers the fundamentals of relational and non-relational databases, big data and analytics, and machine learning. DP-900 exam is suitable for IT professionals, developers, data analysts, and anyone interested in learning about Azure's data services.

Microsoft Azure Data Fundamentals Sample Questions (Q131-Q136):

NEW QUESTION # 131

Hotspot Question

Select the answer that correctly completes the sentence.

☐

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

Dimensions: In a star schema, the entities by which you aggregate or slice measures are called dimensions. Dimensions are the descriptive attributes or perspectives of the data that provide the context for the measures (also known as facts) in the model. For example, in a sales data star schema, the dimensions could be time, product, store location, and customer. These dimensions provide context for the sales measures such as total sales, units sold, and revenue. By aggregating or slicing the measures by different dimensions, you can gain insights into the data from different perspectives.
