The KPI Institute Certified KPI Professional Exam Sample Questions (Q64-Q69):

NEW QUESTION # 64

Which of the following stakeholders should be involved in the KPI selection for a Service Level Agreement (SLA)?

- A. None of the answers
- B. Suppliers
- C. Competitors
- D. General public

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 65

Which of the following statements is not a component of a performance management system?

- A. Organizational chart
- B. Scorecard
- C. Dashboard
- D. KPI documentation form

Answer: A

Explanation:

A performance management system typically includes scorecards (structured sets of KPIs aligned to objectives), dashboards (visual reporting interfaces), and KPI documentation (definitions, formulas, owners, data sources, targets, thresholds). These components enable consistent measurement, reporting, and action. An organizational chart describes reporting lines and structure, but it is not a core component of the performance management system itself. It can support implementation (helping assign KPI owners and data custodians), but it is not part of the measurement and management toolkit in the way documentation, scorecards, and dashboards are. In KPI project planning, the essential deliverables include: KPI selection outputs, documented KPI library, data collection and validation processes, reporting templates/dashboards, governance cadence, and change management/training. A common pitfall is building dashboards without documentation; people then argue about definitions and trust. Another pitfall is unclear ownership; while an org chart can help assign roles, the performance management system must explicitly define accountability and routines beyond the org structure.

Batch 11 (Questions 51-55)

NEW QUESTION # 66

Which of the following statements is considered one of the most important fields used for KPI documentation from the perspective of importance to pursue performance results analysis?

- A. Benchmarking data
- B. Cost of data gathering
- C. Target
- D. Purpose

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 67

Which KPI should be used to balance "New customers (#)"?

- A. Profitable customers (%)
- B. Customer complaints due to poor service or product quality (%)
- C. Time to process orders (# / time)
- D. Increase market share to 20% by the end of the year

Answer: A

Explanation:

"New customers (#)" can be increased by acquiring low-fit or low-margin customers, which may harm profitability and strain operations. A strong balancing KPI is profitable customers (%), because it ensures growth is healthy and sustainable-new customer acquisition should improve the quality of the customer base, not just the count. Option D is an objective/goal statement, not a KPI selection. "Time to process orders" is operational and may be impacted by growth, but it's a capacity/efficiency measure rather than the primary balance to acquisition quality. Complaints are useful as a quality guardrail, but they don't directly ensure the customers acquired are economically attractive; you can have low complaints and still have unprofitable customers. Measurement challenges include defining "profitable" (contribution margin after variable costs, CAC payback, lifetime value) and ensuring profitability is assessed over an appropriate time window. In practice, acquisition metrics are best balanced by unit economics (LTV/CAC, gross margin, payback period) and retention, so teams don't optimize top-line growth at the expense of long-term value.

NEW QUESTION # 68

Objectives should start with:

- A. Nouns
- B. Action verbs
- C. Adjectives
- D. Value drivers

Answer: B
