Salesforce Certified Platform User Experience Designer 認定 Plat-UX-101 試験問題 (Q164-Q169):

質問 # 164

During our interview, a UX designer discovers that the most common daily task for the user is to view and commonly view reports using the global search bar for:

- A. Update the homepage with access to commonly used reports
- B. Create the mind board to communicate the visual style of the UI
- C. Make the global search bar bigger on every page
- D. Add the daily task component to the homepage

正解: A

解説:

Updating the homepage with access to commonly used reports is the best way to make sure the user can quickly access the reports they need. This could include making the global search bar bigger on every page, adding the daily task component to the homepage, or creating a mind board to communicate the visual style of the UI. Additionally, Salesforce has some great resources on designing for search, such as their Search Design Guide [1] and their Search Best Practices [2].

質問 # 165

What would it mean for the user when designing perceivable content?

- A. The content should only be visible.
- B. The content should only be audible.
- C. The content should not be visible to all senses.
- D. The content should not be visible to all senses.

正解: A

解説:

According to the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG), which are the leading international standards for accessible web design, perceivable content is content that can be presented to users in ways they can perceive. This means that the content should be available to the senses (vision, touch, and hearing) either through the browser or through assistive technologies like screen readers, screen enlargers, and others¹. Therefore, the content should only be visible is the correct answer, as it implies that the content can be seen by users who rely on vision to access the web. The other options are incorrect, as they suggest that the content is not perceivable to all users.

質問 # 167

Which criteria should the designer consider when selecting users for testing?

- A. Traits similar to friends and family
- B. traits of the most common demographic and ability
- C. Traits dissimilar to customer personas
- D. Traits similar to customer personas

正解: D

解説:

The designer should consider the traits similar to customer personas when selecting users for testing. Customer personas are fictional representations of the target users of a product or service, based on user research and data. Customer personas help the designer to understand the needs, goals, behaviors, and preferences of the users, as well as their pain points and challenges. Customer personas also help the designer to empathize with the users and design solutions that meet their expectations and requirements. [UX Designer Certification Prep: User Research], [UX Designer Certification Prep: User Roles and Personas] When selecting users for testing, the designer should aim to recruit users who match the traits of the customer personas as closely as possible. This ensures that the users who participate in the testing are representative of the actual or potential users of the product or service, and that the feedback and insights gathered from the testing are valid and reliable. Selecting users who have traits similar to customer personas also helps the designer to evaluate the usability and user experience of the product or service from the user's perspective, and to identify and prioritize the areas for improvement. [UX Designer Certification Prep: User Research], [UX Designer Certification Prep: User Testing and Evaluation] Traits dissimilar to customer personas, traits similar to friends and family, and traits of the most common demographic and ability are not criteria that the designer should consider when selecting users for testing. These criteria can lead to biased or inaccurate results, as they do not reflect the diversity and complexity of the user population. Users who have traits dissimilar to customer personas may not have the same needs, goals, or expectations as the target users, and may provide feedback that is irrelevant or misleading. Users who have traits similar to friends and family may not be objective or honest in their feedback, and may have a different level of familiarity or expertise with the product or service than the target users. Users who have traits of the most common demographic and ability may not account for the variations and differences among the target users, and may exclude or marginalize the users who have special needs or preferences.
