NEW QUESTION # 16

In the CloudFabric Solution, firewalls can connect to service leaf nodes or border leaf nodes (combined with service leaf nodes).

- A. FALSE
- B. TRUE

Answer: B

Explanation:

In Huawei CloudFabric architecture, service integration and flexible deployment of security devices such as firewalls are key design principles. Firewalls can be deployed in multiple ways depending on service requirements, traffic patterns, and scalability considerations.

Firewalls can be connected to:

Service leaf nodes : These are dedicated nodes used for service insertion (e.g., firewall, load balancer). Traffic can be steered through these nodes using policy-based routing or service chaining.

Border leaf nodes (combined with service leaf role) : In some designs, border leaf nodes (which connect to external networks such as WAN or Internet) can also integrate service functions, including firewall connectivity. This reduces hardware requirements and simplifies deployment.

Huawei supports both centralized and distributed service deployment models , allowing firewalls to be flexibly inserted into the network fabric. Integration is typically achieved using VXLAN, EVPN, and service chaining technologies , ensuring seamless traffic steering and policy enforcement.

This flexibility enhances:

Network scalability

Security enforcement

Operational simplicity
