Statistics 1

Chapter 3

- 1) Create a dotplot of the distribution of the number of states visited by your classmates.

- 2) Circle your own value on the dotplot. Where do you seem to fall in relation to your peers with regard to the number of states visited?

- 3) Write a paragraph of at least four sentences describing various features of the distribution of states visited. Imagine that you are trying to explain what this distribution looks like to someone who cannot see the display and had no idea about how many states people visit. Note: Here and throughout the course, relate your comments to the context. Remember that data are not just numbers but numbers with a context, in this case the numbers of states visited by you and your classmates.

IIC Principles and Practice of Insurance Sample Questions (Q61-Q66):

NEW QUESTION # 61

Which statement reflects how an insurer invests their capital?

- A. Provincial regulations allow insurers to invest in foreign bond markets
- B. Insurers are compelled by regulations to invest in non-liquid assets
- C. Government regulations specify the types of investments not permitted to insurers
- D. There are no restrictions as to how an insurer can invest their capital

Answer: C

Explanation:

Insurers in Canada are heavily regulated in the way they invest their capital because they must remain financially strong to pay future claims. Government regulations—federal for federally regulated insurers and provincial for provincially regulated insurers—set out specific investment restrictions, including prohibiting certain high-risk or illiquid investments. These rules protect policyholders by ensuring insurers maintain solvency and liquidity.

Insurers must invest prudently in order to meet long-term obligations, and therefore regulators specify the classes of investments deemed too risky or unsuitable. This includes limits on speculative investments or holdings that could jeopardize stability.

Option A is incorrect because insurers are not required to invest in non-liquid assets; in fact, liquidity is important.

Option B is incorrect; although some foreign investments may be allowed, the statement is not a broad principle of regulation.

Option C is incorrect because insurers face significant restrictions, not complete freedom.

Thus, D is the correct answer.

NEW QUESTION # 62

Which type of insurance company has the same capital structure as any other capital enterprise?

- A. Factory mutual company
- B. Captive company
- C. Stock company
- D. Co-operative company

Answer: C

Explanation:

A stock insurance company operates with the same capital structure as other conventional for-profit corporations. Ownership is represented by shares of stock, held by shareholders who supply capital and expect a return on investment. Profits are distributed as dividends or reinvested into the company. This structure aligns closely with traditional corporate financial frameworks in Canadian commerce.

Option B, a captive company, is owned by a parent business to insure its own risks—not structured like a general capital corporation.

Option C, a co-operative company, is owned by its policyholders or members, not shareholders. Option D (factory mutual company) refers to a mutual insurer owned by its policyholders and requiring high loss-prevention standards.

Thus, the only insurer type that mirrors the capital structure of typical Canadian corporate enterprises is the stock company, making A correct.

NEW QUESTION # 63

MacMan Inc. employs several salespersons who travel throughout Canada with samples of its products.

Which type of coverage does MacMan Inc. require to protect its samples while in the salespersons' possession?

- A. Personal Property Floater
- B. Commercial Property Floater
- C. Aviation Insurance
- D. Accident Insurance

Answer: B

Explanation:

A commercial property floater is designed for businesses that regularly transport goods, equipment, or samples away from their main premises. In this case, MacMan Inc.'s traveling sales staff carry product samples across Canada. These samples are considered business property, not personal property. Therefore, they must be insured under a commercial floater, which provides coverage regardless of location—hotel rooms, vehicles, trade shows, or customer visits.

Option C, personal property floater, applies to individual property such as jewelry, fine arts, or sporting goods, not business merchandise. Option A, aviation insurance, is irrelevant unless aircraft are owned or used by the business for transport. Option B, accident insurance, covers personal injuries, not physical property. Because the exposure involves business-owned goods off-premises, the correct coverage is the commercial property floater. It ensures protection against theft, loss, or damage while the goods are in the custody of traveling employees.

NEW QUESTION # 64

What is the correct placement of statutory conditions to their respective insurance policy?

A	B	C
Rights of examination	Action	Prohibited use by insured

- A. A: fire, B: accident & sickness, C: automobile
- B. A: accident & sickness, B: fire, C: automobile
- C. A: accident & sickness, B: automobile, C: fire
- D. A: automobile, B: accident & sickness, C: fire

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Canadian insurance law, statutory conditions apply differently depending on the class of insurance:

Fire insurance policies contain Statutory Conditions under provincial Insurance Acts.

Accident & sickness policies contain Statutory Conditions specific to health and travel insurance.

Automobile insurance includes Statutory Conditions or General Conditions (depending on the province).

The table shown in your image lists headings:

A: Rights of examination, B: Action, C: Prohibited use by insured.

These correspond directly to statutory condition categories found in fire insurance and accident & sickness insurance, not automobile.

The correct ordering is:

A = Fire, B = Accident & Sickness, C = Automobile.

This matches option B.

NEW QUESTION # 65

Kamal's home has an actual cash value (ACV) of $380,000 and is insured for $400,000. The house suffers $180,000 damage. Which amount indemnifies Kamal?

- A. $380,000
- B. $400,000
- C. $200,000
- D. $180,000

Answer: D

Explanation:

Indemnity means restoring the insured to the financial position they occupied immediately before the loss- no better, no worse. Since the loss amount is $180,000, this is the amount required to fully indemnify the insured.

Although the policy limit is $400,000, the insurer does not pay policy limits unless the loss equals or exceeds the limit. The ACV of $380,000 is irrelevant here because the loss is partial, not total. ACV only caps reimbursement in cases of total loss or when replacement cost is not available.

Option B ($200,000) has no basis in any indemnity or co-insurance formula.

Options C and D refer to total loss payouts, not applicable here.

Thus, the amount that indemnifies Kamal is A: $180,000.
