NEW QUESTION # 41
A user with a PSK calls you and says, "The Wi-Fi worked for a week and now it does not work." There have not been any recent configuration changes to the network. You suspect that a time-based setting has reset the key.
In this scenario, where would you begin troubleshooting?

- A. WLAN-level Pre-Shared Keys
- B. Organization-level Pre-Shared Keys
- C. Site-level Pre-Shared Keys
- D. RADIUS Pre-Shared Keys

Answer: A

Explanation:
In this scenario, you would begin troubleshooting by checking the WLAN-level Pre-Shared Keys.
According to the Cisco Catalyst 9800 Series Wireless Controller Software Configuration Guide1, you can configure a time-based setting for WLAN-level Pre-Shared Keys (PSKs) that will reset the key after a specified interval. This feature is useful for enhancing security and preventing unauthorized access. If a user reports that the Wi-Fi worked for a week and now it does not work, you should check the WLAN-level PSK settings and see if the key has been changed.

- C. a rogue AP
- D. a honeypot AP
