CompTIA Advanced Security Practitioner (CASP+) Exam Sample Questions (Q26-Q31):

NEW QUESTION # 26

A disaster recovery team learned of several mistakes that were made during the last disaster recovery parallel test. Computational resources ran out at 70% of restoration of critical services.

Which of the following should be modified to prevent the issue from reoccurring?

- A. Recovery point objective
- B. Recovery service level
- C. Mission-essential functions
- D. Recovery time objective

Answer: B

Explanation:

Parallel Test - Uses recovery systems that are built and tested to see if they can perform actual business transactions to support key processes.

Recovery Service Level (RSL) - A metric that is displayed as a percentage of how much computing power will be needed during a disaster.

NEW QUESTION # 27

A security auditor needs to review the manner in which an entertainment device operates. The auditor is analyzing the output of a port scanning tool to determine the next steps in the security review. Given the following log output.

The best option for the auditor to use NEXT is:

□

- A. A SCAP assessment.
- B. Reverse engineering
- C. Fuzzing
- D. Network interception.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 28

An attacker wants to gain information about a company's database structure by probing the database listener.

The attacker tries to manipulate the company's database to see if it has any vulnerabilities that can be exploited to help carry out an attack.

To prevent this type of attack, which of the following should the company do to secure its database?

- A. Implement challenge-based authentication
- B. Tighten database authentication and limit table access
- C. Harden web and Internet resources
- D. Mask the database banner

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 29

A company uses a CSP to provide a front end for its new payment system offering. The new offering is currently certified as PCI compliant. In order for the integrated solution to be compliant, the customer:

- A. must also be PCI compliant, because the risk is transferred to the provider.
- B. needs to perform a penetration test of the cloud provider's environment.

- C. still needs to perform its own PCI assessment of the provider's managed serverless service.
- D. must ensure in-scope systems for the new offering are also PCI compliant.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Even though the company uses a cloud service provider (CSP) that is PCI compliant, the customer must still ensure that in-scope systems related to their new payment system offering are also PCI compliant. PCI DSS (Payment Card Industry Data Security Standard) applies to any system that processes, stores, or transmits credit card data, and this includes customer-owned systems, services, or applications integrated into the solution. The responsibility is shared between the CSP and the customer, and compliance is not automatically inherited just because the CSP is compliant.

NEW QUESTION # 30

During a phishing exercise, a few privileged users ranked high on the failure list. The enterprise would like to ensure that privileged users have an extra security-monitoring control in place. Which of the following is the MOST likely solution?

- A. A gap analysis
- B. A WAF to protect web traffic
- C. Requirements to change the local password
- D. User and entity behavior analytics

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

User and entity behavior analytics (UEBA) is the best solution to monitor and detect unusual or malicious activity by privileged users who failed the phishing exercise. UEBA uses machine learning and behavioral analytics to establish a baseline of normal activity and identify anomalies that indicate potential threats. UEBA can help detect compromised credentials, insider threats, and advanced persistent threats that may evade traditional security solutions. The other options are either irrelevant or less effective for the given scenario.
