NEW QUESTION # 203

A developer is building a complex commission calculation engine in Apex that is called from an Opportunity trigger. During QA it was reported that the calculations are incorrect.

The developer has representative test data and passing test methods in their developer sandbox.

Which three tools or techniques could the developer use to execute the code and pause it at key lines to visually inspect values of various Apex variables?

Choose 3 answers

- A. Apex Interactive Debugger
- B. Workbench

- C. Developer Console
- D. Breakpoints
- E. Apex Replay Debugger

Answer: A,C,E

Explanation:

To debug and troubleshoot the commission calculation engine, a developer can use several tools provided by Salesforce to inspect and pause the execution of Apex code.

Apex Interactive Debugger: It allows real-time debugging of Apex code execution. With this tool, a developer can set breakpoints, step through code, inspect variables, and evaluate expressions.

Developer Console: Although the Developer Console does not allow interactive debugging, it does provide the ability to view logs that capture the execution of code. Debug logs can be inspected to understand the flow of execution and values of variables at different points in time.

Apex Replay Debugger: This tool is part of Salesforce Extensions for Visual Studio Code. It allows a developer to replay a debug log as if they are stepping through the code line by line, which can be very useful to inspect the state of variables at specific points in the execution.

NEW QUESTION # 204

A Visualforce page needs to make a callout to get billing information and tax information from two different REST endpoints. The information needs to be displayed to the user at the same time and the return value of the billing information contains the input for the tax information callout. Each endpoint might take up to two minutes to process.

How should a developer implement the callouts?

- A. An HTTP REST callout for both the billing callout and the tax callout
- B. An HTTP REST callout for the billing callout and a Continuation for the tax callout
- C. A Continuation for the billing callout and an HTTP REST callout for the tax callout
- D. A Continuation for both the billing callout and the tax callout

Answer: D

Explanation:

Using Continuation for both callouts is the optimal solution when you have long-running callouts in a Visualforce page, as it allows the page to wait for a long-running process without tying up server resources. The Continuation pattern is specifically designed for scenarios where the request-response cycle could exceed the timeout limits.

NEW QUESTION # 205

What is the best practice to initialize a Visualforce page in a test class?

- A. Use Test.setCurrentPage(Page.MyTestPage);
- B. Use Test.setCurrentPage MyTestPage;
- C. Use controller.currentPage.setPage(MyTestPage);
- D. Use Test.currentPage.getParamaters put(MyTestPage);

Answer: A

Explanation:

Test.setCurrentPage(Page.MyTestPage) is used to set the context to a Visualforce page in tests, allowing you to simulate a page request in a test method.

NEW QUESTION # 207

Universal Containers (UC) has an ERP system that stores customer Information, When an Account is created in Salesforce, the ERP system's REST endpoint for creating new customers must automatically be called with the Account information. If the call to the ERP system fails, the Account should still be created. Accounts in the UC org are only created, one at a time, by users in the UC customer on-boarding department.

What should a developer implement to make the call to the ERP system's REST endpoint?

- A. Headless Quick Action
- B. Apex Continuation
- C. Call a Queueable from a Trigger
- D. REST call from JavaScript

Answer: C

Explanation:

Since the requirement is to make a callout to an external ERP system when an Account is created and still allow for the Account creation even if the call fails, a Queueable class called from a trigger is the best solution. Queueable Apex allows you to submit jobs for asynchronous processing similar to future methods but with additional benefits such as chaining jobs and monitoring the job status.

By using a Queueable, the callout can be made after the Account is created, which respects the Salesforce order of execution and avoids the limitation of callouts not being allowed after DML operations in the same transaction. This approach also does not block the user interface or the creation of the Account record if the callout to the ERP system takes a long time or fails.
