Axis Network Video Exam Sample Questions (Q337-Q342):

NEW QUESTION # 337

Focusing a camera improves the image, but it also

- A. Changes the pixel resolution
- B. Increases the bandwidth
- C. Has an effect on the frame rate
- D. Decreases the bandwidth

Answer: B

Explanation:

Focusing a camera improves image clarity and detail but also increases the bandwidth. This happens because a sharper image contains more detailed information, requiring more data to transmit over the network. Hence, the bandwidth usage increases as the camera focuses more accurately.

NEW QUESTION # 341

Which is a benefit of using VLANs and IP subnets?

- A. The network provides end-to-end encryption to prevent malicious users from intercepting network traffic
- B. The network will only allow access from authorized devices, eliminating the risk that malicious users disconnect cameras to intercept network traffic
- C. Network surveillance video can be kept separate from other network traffic, reducing the risk that malicious users will intercept it
- D. An encrypted communication link is established over the internet, allowing surveillance video to be securely viewed off-site

Answer: C

Explanation:

Using VLANs and IP subnets in a network infrastructure helps segregate surveillance video traffic from other network traffic. This separation improves network security by limiting access to authorized devices only and reducing the risk of video interception by malicious users. It does not inherently provide encryption or establish encrypted communication links, but it enhances security by isolating sensitive video streams.

Detailed explanations can be found in Axis Communications network design guides and security best practices documents.
