AAPC Certified Professional Coder (CPC) Exam Sample Questions (Q439-Q444):

NEW QUESTION # 439

A patient in a radiology facility has an X-ray examination of her lumbosacral spine due to pain while playing golf. The radiologist takes a complete 7-view of the lumbosacral spine, including bending views.

What CPTcode is reported?

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

Answer: C

Explanation:

1. Procedure and CPTCode Selection:

The patient underwent a 7-view X-ray of the lumbosacral spine, which included bending views. A complete set of views is captured. CPTCode 72114 is appropriate for a complete lumbosacral spine X-ray with a minimum of six views. This code includes comprehensive imaging, such as bending and other specialized views, which were taken in this scenario.

2. Rationale for Excluding Other Options:

Code 72020 is for a single-view X-ray of the spine, which is not adequate to describe a 7-view series.

Code 72080 is for a two- or three-view X-ray of the thoracolumbar spine, which does not cover the full set of seven views described in this scenario.

Code 72084 represents a complete thoracic spine study with multiple views but does not specifically cover the lumbosacral spine, which is the focus of this X-ray examination.

3. AAPC and CPTCoding Guidelines:

According to AAPC and CPTguidelines, 72114 is the correct choice for a complete lumbosacral spine study involving multiple views, including specialized views like bending.

Therefore, the correct answer is C. 72114.

NEW QUESTION # 440

Cervical spondylosis with myelopathy: Condition requiring decompressive surgery.

Bilateral posterior laminectomy, facetectomies, foraminotomies: Procedures performed to decompress nerve roots.

Interspaces C5-C6 and C6-C7: Specific levels where the procedures were performed.
