F5 BIG-IP Administration Data Plane Concepts (F5CAB2) Sample Questions (Q27-Q32):

NEW QUESTION # 27

Which two statements describe differences between the active and standby systems? (Choose two.)

- A. Monitors are performed only by the active system
- B. Configuration changes can only be made on the active system
- C. Failover triggers only cause changes on the active system
- D. Virtual server addresses are hosted only by the active system
- E. Floating selfIP addresses are hosted only by the active system

Answer: D,E

NEW QUESTION # 28

A BIG-IP Administrator has a cluster of devices.

What should the administrator do after creating a new Virtual Server on device 1? (Choose one answer)

- A. Synchronize the settings of device 1 to the group
- B. Create a new cluster on device 1
- C. Synchronize the settings of the group to device 1
- D. Create a new virtual server on device 2

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 29

Which statement is true concerning the default communication between a redundant pair of BIG-IP devices?

- A. Regardless of the configuration, some data is communicated between the systems at regular intervals.
- B. Connection mirroring data is shared through the serial fail over cable unless network failover is enabled.
- C. Communication between the systems cannot be effected by port lockdown settings.
- D. Data for both connection and persistence mirroring are shared through the same TCP connection.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 30

Which event is always triggered when a client initially connects to a virtual server configured with an HTTP profile?

- A. CLIENT_ACCEPTED
- B. HTTP_REQUEST
- C. CLIENT_DATA
- D. HTTP_DATA

Answer: A

Explanation:

The BIG-IP processing flow follows a specific sequence of events as a packet moves through the system.

* TCP Handshake: Before any application-layer data (like HTTP) can be processed, a TCP connection must be established.

* The First Event: The very first event triggered when a client completes the 3-way handshake with the virtual server is CLIENT_ACCEPTED.

* Profile Influence: Even if an HTTP profile is attached, the system must first "accept" the connection at the protocol level.

HTTP_REQUEST only triggers after the client sends data that the BIG-IP recognizes as a valid HTTP request. If a client connects but never sends a request, CLIENT_ACCEPTED will have fired, but HTTP_REQUEST will not.

NEW QUESTION # 31

A BIG-IP Administrator needs to apply a health monitor for a pool of database servers named DB_Pool that uses TCP port 1521. Where should the BIG-IP Administrator apply this monitor?

- A. Local Traffic > Pools > DB_Pool > Properties
- B. Local Traffic > Profiles > Protocol > TCP
- C. Local Traffic > Pools > DB_Pool > Members
- D. Local Traffic > Nodes > Default Monitor

Answer: A

Explanation:

In the BIG-IP system object hierarchy, health monitors can be applied at three levels: Node, Pool, and Pool Member.

* Pool Level (Properties): Applying a monitor at the Pool > Properties level is the most common and efficient administrative practice. When applied here, the monitor is inherited by all members of that pool. If the monitor fails for a specific member, that member is marked "down" specifically for that pool.

* Node Level: If a monitor is applied at the Node level (Local Traffic > Nodes), it checks the health of the physical IP address itself. If it fails, that node (and all pool members associated with it) is marked down globally across the entire system.

* Member Level: Applying a monitor at the Pool > Members level allows for specific "per-member" monitoring, which is usually only done if different members in the same pool require different health checks.

* The Specific Case: For a standard database pool like DB_Pool, the administrator should navigate to Local Traffic > Pools > DB_Pool > Properties and select the appropriate monitor (e.g., a custom TCP or Oracle monitor) from the "Health Monitors" configuration section.
