Splunk IT Service Intelligence Certified Admin Sample Questions (Q47-Q52):

NEW QUESTION # 47

Which of the following is a characteristic of notable event groups?

- A. Notable event groups allow users to adjust threshold settings.
- B. Notable event groups are created in the itsi_tracked_alerts index.
- C. Notable event groups combine independent notable events.
- D. All of the above.

Answer: C

Explanation:
In Splunk IT Service Intelligence (ITSI), notable event groups are used to logically group related notable events, which enhances the manageability and analysis of events:
A) Notable event groups combine independent notable events: This characteristic allows for the aggregation of related events into a single group, making it easier for users to manage and investigate related issues. By grouping events, users can focus on the broader context of an issue rather than getting lost in the details of individual events.
While notable event groups play a critical role in organizing and managing events in ITSI, they do not inherently allow users to adjust threshold settings, which is typically handled at the KPI or service level. Additionally, while notable event groups are utilized within the ITSI framework, the statement that they are created in the 'itsi_tracked_alerts' index might not fully capture the complexity of how event groups are managed and stored within the ITSI architecture.

NEW QUESTION # 48

Which of the following describes entities? (Choose all that apply.)

- A. An abstract (pseudo/logical) entity can be used to split by for a KPI, although no entity rules or filtering can be used to limit data to a specific service.
- B. Multiple entities can share the same alias value, but must have different role values.
- C. Entities must be IT devices, such as routers and switches, and must be identified by either IP value, host name, or mac address.
- D. To automatically restrict the KPI to only the entities in a particular service, select "Filter to Entities in Service".

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 49

Which index contains ITSI Episodes?

- A. itsi_notable_archive
- B. itsi_summary
- C. itsi_tracked_alerts
- D. itsi_grouped_alerts

Answer: D

Explanation:
Reference:
B is the correct answer because ITSI episodes are stored in the itsi_grouped_alerts index. This index contains notable events that have been grouped together based on predefined aggregation policies. Episodes help you reduce alert noise and focus on resolving incidents faster. Reference: [Overview of episodes in ITSI]

NEW QUESTION # 50

Which of the following is an advantage of using adaptive time thresholds?

- A. Automatically adjust aggregation policy grouping to manage escalating severity.
- B. Automatically update thresholds daily to manage dynamic changes to KPI values.
- C. Automatically adjust KPI calculation to manage dynamic event data.
- D. Automatically adjust correlation search thresholds to adjust sensitivity over time.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 51

When must a service define entity rules?

- A. If the intention is for the KPIs in the service to filter to only entities assigned to the service.
- B. If some or all of the KPIs in the service will be split by entity.
- C. If the intention is for the KPIs in the service to have different aggregate vs. entity KPI values.
- D. To enable entity cohesion anomaly detection.

Answer: A

Explanation:
Provide a value to filter the service to a specific set of entities. These entity rule values are meant to be custom for each service.
Reference:
A is the correct answer because a service must define entity rules if the intention is for the KPIs in the service to filter to only entities assigned to the service. Entity rules are filters that match entities to services based on entity aliases or entity metadata. If you enable the Filter to Entities in Service option for a KPI, you need to define entity rules for the service to ensure that the KPI search results only include the relevant entities for the service. Otherwise, the KPI search results might include entities that are not part of the service or exclude entities that are part of the service.
