UiPath Specialized AI Associate Exam (2023.10) Sample Questions (Q89-Q94):

NEW QUESTION # 89
What is the recommended split of documents for training and evaluation, considering a total of 15 documents per vendor?

- A. 12 documents for training the model, and 3 for evaluating the model.
- B. 8 documents for training the model, and 7 for evaluating the model.
- C. 10 documents for training the model, and 5 for evaluating the model.
- D. 7 documents for training the model, and 8 for evaluating the model.

Answer: C

Explanation:
When you create a training dataset for document classification or data extraction, you need to split your documents into two subsets: one for training the model and one for evaluating the model. The training subset is used to teach the model how to recognize the patterns and features of your document types and fields. The evaluation subset is used to measure the performance and accuracy of the model on unseen data. The evaluation subset should not be used for training, as this would bias the model and overfit it to the data1.
The recommended split of documents for training and evaluation depends on the size and diversity of your data. However, a general guideline is to use a 70/30 or 80/20 ratio, where 70% or 80% of the documents are used for training and 30% or 20% are used for evaluation. This ensures that the model has enough data to learn from and enough data to test on. For example, if you have 15 documents per vendor, you can use 10 documents for training and 5 documents for evaluation. This would give you a 67/33 split, which is close to the 70/30 ratio. You can also use the Data Manager tool to create and manage your training and evaluation datasets2.

NEW QUESTION # 90
Which activity is used to validate and correct automatic classification outputs?

- A. Present Validation Station activity
- B. Digitize Document activity
- C. Classify Document activity
- D. Present Classification Station activity

Answer: D

Explanation:
Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:
* The Present Classification Station activity is specifically used to review and correct the classification results performed by the "Classify Document" activity.
* It allows a human to validate which document type has been assigned before data extraction begins.
* UiPath Documentation Reference: Classification Station - Document Understanding

NEW QUESTION # 91
When creating a training dataset, what is the recommended number of samples for the Classification fields?

- A. 10-20 document samples from each class.
- B. 5-10 document samples from each class.
- C. 50-200 document samples from each class.
- D. 20-50 document samples from each class.

Answer: D

Explanation:
According to the UiPath documentation, the recommended number of samples for the classification fields depends on the number of document types and layouts that you want to classify. The more document types and layouts you have, the more samples you need to cover the diversity of your data. However, a general guideline is to have at least 20-50 document samples from each class, as this would provide enough data for the classifiers to learn from12. A large number of samples per layout is not mandatory, as the classifiers can generalize from other layouts as well3.

NEW QUESTION # 92
What is the role of the Taxonomy Manager?

- A. To create and edit a Taxonomy file specific to the current automation project.
- B. To present a document processing specific user interface for validating and correcting automatic classification outputs.
- C. To select the type of ML that can be used in the project.
- D. To select which extractors are trained for each document type and field.

Answer: A

Explanation:
The Taxonomy Manager is a tool that enables you to create and edit a Taxonomy file, which is an XML file that defines the document types and fields that are relevant for your automation project1. The Taxonomy file is used by the Classify Document Scope and Data Extraction Scope activities to perform document classification and data extraction, respectively2. The Taxonomy Manager allows you to add, remove, rename, or reorder document types and fields, as well as specify the data type, format, and validation rules for each field3. The Taxonomy Manager also provides a preview of the Taxonomy file and a validation feature to check for errors or inconsistencies.

NEW QUESTION # 93
What information is required when creating a data labeling session?

- A. Data labeling name, language, and number of documents.
- B. Data labeling session name and dataset.
- C. Data labeling name, dataset. and Al Center project.
- D. Dataset and Al Center project.

Answer: B

Explanation:
When creating a data labeling session in UiPath AI Center, the key pieces of information required are:
The data labeling session name: A unique identifier for the session.
The dataset: The data that will be used in the labeling session.
