NEW QUESTION # 74

What are some features of the out-of-the-box reporting with intelligent applications in SAP Business Data Cloud? Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question.

- A. Automated data provisioning from business application to dashboard
- B. Services for transforming and enriching data
- C. Manual creation of artifacts across all involved components
- D. AI-based suggestions for intelligent applications in the SAP Business Data Cloud Cockpit

Answer: A,B

Explanation:

The out-of-the-box reporting capabilities with intelligent applications in SAP Business Data Cloud (BDC) are designed to streamline the analytical process and deliver immediate value. Two significant features include automated data provisioning from business application to dashboard. This means that intelligent applications handle the end-to-end flow of data, from its source in operational systems, through processing in BDC, and finally to visualization in dashboards, with minimal manual intervention. This automation ensures timely and consistent data delivery for reporting. Additionally, these intelligent applications leverage services for transforming and enriching data. As part of the pre-built logic within these applications, data is automatically transformed (e.g., aggregated, filtered) and enriched (e.g., adding calculated KPIs, combining with master data) to make it immediately suitable for reporting and analysis. This reduces the need for manual data manipulation by users, providing ready-to-consume insights.

NEW QUESTION # 76

Why would you choose the "Validate Remote Tables" feature in the SAP Datasphere repository explorer?

- A. To detect if remote tables are defined that are not used in Views
- B. To preview data of remote tables
- C. To test if data has been replicated completely
- D. To identify structure updates of the remote sources

Answer: D

Explanation:

The "Validate Remote Tables" feature in the SAP Datasphere repository explorer is primarily used to identify structure updates of the remote sources. When a remote table is created in Datasphere, it establishes a metadata connection to a table or view in an external source system. Over time, the structure of the source object (e.g., column additions, deletions, data type changes) might change. The "Validate Remote Tables" function allows you to compare the metadata currently stored in Datasphere for the remote table with the actual, current metadata in the source system. If discrepancies are found, Datasphere can highlight these structural changes, prompting you to update the remote table's definition within Datasphere to match the source. This ensures that views and data flows built on these remote tables continue to function correctly and align with the underlying source structure, preventing data access issues or incorrect data interpretations.

NEW QUESTION # 77

How can you create a local table with a custom name in SAP Datasphere? Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question.

- A. By creating a persistent snapshot of a view
- B. By creating an intelligent lookup
- C. By adding an output of a data flow
- D. By importing a CSV file

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

In SAP Datasphere, there are several ways to create a local table with a custom name, providing flexibility for data management. Two common methods are by importing a CSV file and by adding an output of a data flow. When you import a CSV file, Datasphere allows you to specify a custom name for the new local table that will store the imported data. This is a quick and straightforward way to bring external, flat-file data into Datasphere. Secondly, a data flow in Datasphere allows you to define a sequence of operations (e.g., transformations, aggregations) and write the processed data to a target. When configuring the output of a data flow, you can specify a new local table and provide it with a custom name. This method is ideal for creating structured tables as a result of complex data integration or transformation processes. These options ensure that users can create and name tables according to their specific data modeling and organizational requirements.
