NEW QUESTION # 120

What are the two main reasons why one might fork a repository? (Choose two.)

- A. To create a new repository based on an existing one
- B. To create an issue or open a discussion
- C. To propose changes to the base repository
- D. To create a new branch to develop a new feature

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Forking a repository on GitHub is a common practice, especially when contributing to open-source projects or when you want to build on existing work. Here are the two main reasons for forking a repository:

B). To propose changes to the base repository:

One of the primary reasons for forking a repository is to make changes or improvements that you can later propose to the original repository (often called the "upstream" repository). This is typically done through a pull request. By forking the repository, you get your own copy of the project where you can freely experiment, make changes, and then propose those changes back to the original project.

C). To create a new repository based on an existing one:

Forking is also used to create a new repository that is a copy of an existing one. This allows you to work on the project independently of the original repository, effectively creating a new direction for the project or using it as a starting point for a different purpose. This is particularly useful for customization, experimentation, or when you want to build something different while still leveraging the existing codebase.

NEW QUESTION # 121

What is GitHub?

- A. A centralized version control system designed for nurturing a community of developers and providing access to open source projects
- B. A proprietary software platform for nurturing creativity in developers and building a technology community
- C. A platform that focuses on facilitating the growth and sharing of code, specifically designed for new developers to hone their skills
- D. A cloud-based hosting service for version control and collaboration, focused on creating a safe and collaborative environment for developers

Answer: D

Explanation:

GitHub is a cloud-based platform that provides hosting for software development and version control using Git. It offers tools for collaboration, project management, and security to create a safe and productive environment for developers.

* GitHub Overview:

* Option B is correct because GitHub is primarily known as a cloud-based hosting service for Git repositories, offering a collaborative environment where developers can work together on projects, manage version control, and implement security practices.

* Incorrect Options:

* Option A is incorrect because GitHub is not proprietary in the sense of being closed off from version control standards; it is widely recognized as an open platform for collaboration.

* Option C is incorrect because, while GitHub is accessible to new developers, it is designed for developers of all skill levels and not specifically tailored for beginners.

* Option D is incorrect because GitHub is not a centralized version control system; it supports Git, which is distributed.
