Provincial attestation letter from the province or territory where you plan to study

NEW: January 22, 2024

Most students need to provide a provincial attestation letter (PAL) from the province or territory where they plan to study.

How to get a PAL

Each province or territory is developing a process to get a PAL. These processes are expected to be in place by March 31, 2024.

We'll update this page with more information as it becomes available from each province and territory.

Applications received before 8:30 am ET on January 22, 2024 do not require a PAL.

Who doesn't need a provincial attestation letter

You do not need a PAL when applying for a study permit if you

- are applying to study in a preschool, primary school or secondary school (up to grade 12)
- are applying to study in a master's degree or doctoral degree program or
- are in Canada and one of the following situations applies to you:
  - You're applying for a study permit extension.
  - You have a work permit.
  - You're a temporary resident who is a visiting or exchange student studying at a designated learning institution (DLI).
  - You're a temporary resident who has completed a course or program of study that is a prerequisite to you enrolling at a DLI.
  - You're under a removal order, but can't be removed from Canada at this time.
  - You have a temporary resident permit valid for at least 6 months.
  - You're the family member of a foreign national who lives in Canada and is one of the following:
    - a study permit holder
    - a work permit holder
