NEW QUESTION # 64

A user experiences intermittent Wi-Fi performance issues only in their office. Nearby RJ45 ports do not provide connectivity, but the user connects fine in other campus areas. AP coverage is weak in the user's office. What is the most likely cause?

- A. APs are installed too far from the user's office
- B. Ports near the office are disabled
- C. The laptop has malware contacting unauthorized sites
- D. Brute-force attempts are causing drops

Answer: A

Explanation:

Intermittent Wi-Fi issues specific to one area with admitted weak AP coverage directly point to insufficient signal strength from distant access points, causing drops and poor performance.

Wired RJ45 ports nearby not working suggests a separate cabling or port issue, but the Wi-Fi problem aligns with coverage gaps rather than brute-force attacks, malware, or disabled ports, which would not be location-specific or tied to weak signal.

NEW QUESTION # 65

Which of the following minimizes the time it takes to connect a display, keyboard, mouse, and network cable to a laptop?

- A. USB hub
- B. Bluetooth

A port replicator is designed to allow a user to quickly connect a laptop to multiple peripherals (display, keyboard, mouse, network, etc.) using a single interface, reducing setup time.

NEW QUESTION # 66

A third-party contractor recently installed a new switch, router, and cabling for a small corporate office. After the installation, users started experiencing issues connecting to resources over the network.

INSTRUCTIONS

Click on each PC and server to review outputs. From the remediation section on the right, select an issue and solution for each device.

Answer:

Explanation:

See the Explanation and detailed steps below.

Explanation:

Looking at the network configurations and outputs from both PCs and servers, here are the possible issues and solutions:

1. PC 1

Issue: The IP address for PC1 is 192.168.1.1, which conflicts with Server 1 (which also uses 192.168.1.1).

Solution: Change the IP address on PC1 to a unique one within the range, like 192.168.1.3.

2. PC 2

Issue: PC 2 is configured with 192.168.1.2, which conflicts with Server 2 that has the same IP address.

Solution: Update the IP address on PC 2 to something unique, like 192.168.1.4.

3. Server 1

Issue: The IP address for Server 1 is 192.168.1.1, which conflicts with PC1.

Solution: Since Server 1 and PC1 are using the same IP address, change one of them. For Server 1, you could change the IP address to 192.168.1.5.

4. Server 2

Issue: Server 2 is using the IP address 192.168.1.2, which conflicts with PC2.

Solution: Update Server 2 to use a different IP address, such as 192.168.1.6.

General Remediation:

The primary problem here is overlapping IP addresses, leading to connectivity issues. Each device on the network must have a unique IP address. After making these changes, ensure that all devices can communicate properly by testing the connection between devices and verifying they can access shared resources.
