NEW QUESTION # 155
The Global Reporting Initiative (GRI) is intended to:

- A. provide guidance on best practices for preparing a sustainability report.
- B. track the country's general business practices for country-to-country comparisons.
- C. establish the minimum standards that a firm should achieve for best-in-class.
- D. allow for appropriate tariffs and fees for cross-border shipments.

Answer: A

Explanation:
The Global Reporting Initiative (GRI) is an international independent standards organization that helps businesses, governments, and other organizations understand and communicate their impacts on issues such as climate change, human rights, and corruption. The GRI provides a comprehensive framework for sustainability reporting, which is designed to be used by organizations to report on their environmental, social, and governance (ESG) performance. It offers guidelines that are widely recognized and used globally to ensure transparency and accountability in sustainability reporting. The primary purpose is to help organizations report their sustainability impacts in a structured and reliable manner, thereby enhancing their credibility and comparability. References: GRI Standards, Global Reporting Initiative website.
