Archer Certified Administrator-Expert Sample Questions (Q27-Q32):

NEW QUESTION # 27

In multi-host Archer installation, same Archer configuration certificate should be used in:

- A. Web and SQL servers
- B. Web and Services servers
- C. Web, SQL, Services servers
- D. Web and DC servers

Answer: B

Explanation:

In a distributed Archer environment, the Archer Configuration Certificate is used to encrypt and secure communication between the Archer Control Panel (ACP) and the various server nodes. As taught in Archer Administration II, this certificate ensures that only authorized servers can join the instance and access the encrypted configuration files (like settings.config).

The certificate must be installed on all Web and Services servers. The Web server requires it to process user requests and communicate with the ACP, while the Services server (which handles the Job Engine, Indexing, and Workflow) requires it to decrypt the task instructions it receives. The SQL Server (Option B and C) does not require the Archer Configuration Certificate because it interacts with Archer via standard SQL authentication or Windows Authentication protocols at the database layer; it does not run the Archer Configuration Service. "DC servers" (Domain Controllers) are also outside the scope of this certificate requirement.

NEW QUESTION # 28

What type of Data Feed Transporter would you use to move information from one application into another application within the same Archer instance?

- A. File Transporter
- B. JavaScript Transporter
- C. Database Query Transporter
- D. Archer Web Services Transporter

Answer: D

Explanation:

When moving data between two applications within the same Archer environment (often called an "Archer-to- Archer" feed), the Archer Web Services Transporter is the standard and recommended method. As detailed in the Archer Administration II Data Feed module, this transporter uses Archer's own API (Web Services) to authenticate and "read" a report from the source application. The transporter then passes that data to the Target section of the feed for mapping. Using a Database Query Transporter (Option C) directly against the Archer back-end SQL tables is strongly discouraged and often unsupported because it bypasses the application logic and security layers. The File Transporter (Option B) would require an intermediate step of exporting data to a CSV first. The Web Services Transporter allows for a direct, secure, and API-compliant way to keep data synchronized between internal applications, such as feeding "Findings" from various modules into a centralized "Master Findings" application.

NEW QUESTION # 29

Which Advanced Workflow node allows you to transition to different paths based on a specified rule?

- A. Update Content node
- B. Wait for Content Update node
- C. User Action node
- D. Evaluate Content node

Answer: D

Explanation:

In Advanced Workflow (AWF), logic-based branching is handled by the Evaluate Content node. As taught in the Advanced Workflow Beyond the Basics course, this node acts as a "decision engine" within the workflow. An administrator configures one or more rules within the node that evaluate the fields of the record currently in the workflow.

Based on whether these rules evaluate to true or false, the record is routed down different paths (outbound transitions). For example, an Evaluate Content node might check the "Risk Rating" of a record; if the rating is "High," it transitions to an Executive Approval node; if it is "Low," it transitions directly to the Archive node.

This is distinct from a User Action node (Option D), where the path is chosen manually by a person, or an Update Content node (Option B), which simply changes a field value without necessarily redirecting the workflow path.

NEW QUESTION # 30

For multi-host environments, which statement of the following is TRUE regarding the set up of the servers?

- A. All Archer components exist on one server.
- B. All servers should be on the same network.
- C. A load balancer is not needed if there are more than one web server.
- D. File share can only be accessed by the web server.

Answer: B

Explanation:

In a Multi-Host (Distributed) Environment, Archer components (Web, Application, and Database tiers) are spread across multiple physical or virtual machines to ensure high availability and scalability. According to the Archer Installation and Troubleshooting guides within the Administration II curriculum, it is a technical requirement that all servers within the Archer instance be on the same network or have high-speed, low-latency connectivity between them. This is because the Archer Control Panel (ACP) and the various services (Async, Indexing, Queuing) must communicate constantly to synchronize metadata and process jobs.

Option A is incorrect because the File Store must be accessible by both the Web and Services servers to handle attachments.

Option B describes a "Single-Host" setup, not a multi-host one. Option C is false because if you have multiple Web Servers, a Load Balancer is mandatory to distribute user traffic and provide failover. Without being on the same network/segment, the latency would cause the Archer Services to "time out," leading to job engine failures and significant performance degradation across the platform.

NEW QUESTION # 31

What happens when an administrator selects to cascade private field permissions for a group?

- A. Only members of the selected group and its child groups would have access to the field.
- B. Members of the selected group would NOT have access to the field; members of child groups would have access to the field.
- C. Members of the selected group and members of its child groups would have access to the field.
- D. Only members of the selected group would have access to the field; members of any child groups would NOT have access to the field.

Answer: C

Explanation:

In Archer, Private Fields are a high-security feature where access is restricted to specific Users or Groups, regardless of their Access Role permissions. When an administrator manages these permissions, the concept of Cascading is vital for hierarchy management.

As taught in Archer Administration II, if you grant a parent group access to a private field and select the "Cascade" option, Archer automatically extends those permissions to every child group within that hierarchy.

This follows the standard inheritance model used throughout the platform's security architecture. Without cascading (Option C), only the direct members of the parent group would see the field data, and administrators would have to manually add every subgroup individually. Selecting cascade ensures that as the organization grows and new subgroups are added under the parent, those new members will automatically inherit the necessary access to view or edit the protected field.
