- A. Natural language doesn't require training to be understood.
- B. Natural language is unambiguous.
- C. Natural language is flexible.
- D. Natural language is expressive.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 58

In regard to the quality criteria for requirements, which statement is correct?

- A. Single requirements and specifications should adhere to the same quality criteria.
- B. Requirements have to fully adhere to all quality criteria.
- C. All quality criteria have the same relative importance.
- D. All the other options are wrong.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

CPRE presents multiple quality criteria (adequate, understandable, complete, necessary, consistent, traceable, etc.) and distinguishes those for single requirements from those for work products containing many requirements (e.g., non-redundant, conformant, consistent, traceable). Not every requirement must perfectly satisfy all criteria; instead, a value-oriented approach is recommended where critical requirements receive more scrutiny. Adequate and understandable are considered most important; others may be relaxed in low-risk areas. Therefore A, B and C are incorrect generalizations, leaving D as the only correct choice.
