Salesforce B2B Commerce for Developers Accredited Professional Sample Questions (Q81-Q86):

NEW QUESTION # 81

Northern Trail Outfitters (NTO) has a requirement to schedule a reusable data import across multiple orgs for customer demo purposes. NTO also has a requirement to seed data of related objects-ProductCatalog, ProductCategory, Product2, and ProductCategoryProduct- while preserving its relationships and without purchasing additional licenses or using thirdparty tools. What is the recommended tool a developer should select to address the requirement?

- A. Dataloader.io
- B. Bulk Import Using Command Line Interface
- C. Data Import Wizard
- D. Commerce Product Data Import

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Commerce Product Data Import resource is the recommended tool for importing products for a B2B or B2C store using a .csv file. This resource supports importing data of related objects, such as ProductCatalog, ProductCategory, Product2, and ProductCategoryProduct, while preserving their relationships. It also does not require additional licenses or third-party tools. The other options are either not specific to Commerce products, or do not support importing data of related objects. Reference:

NEW QUESTION # 82

Ursa Major is planning to implement Salesforce B2B Commerce, and a developer needs to configure taxes for their storefront. The company operates in multiple states, each with different tax rates and tax rules.

What are two ways the developer should configure taxes in B2B Commerce?

- A. Configure tax rates and rules for each state in Salesforce B2B Commerce.
- B. Configure a tax engine using third-party software.
- C. Use the Salesforce out-of-the-box tax calculator.
- D. Use a different pricebook for each state.

Answer: A,B

Explanation:

Two ways that a developer should configure taxes in B2B Commerce for Ursa Major are: configure a tax engine using third-party software and configure tax rates and rules for each state in Salesforce B2B Commerce. Configuring a tax engine using third-party software allows the developer to integrate with an external tax service provider that can calculate and apply accurate and up-to-date tax rates and rules for different states and jurisdictions. The developer can use the `sfdc_checkout.TaxCalculations` interface or the `RegisteredExternalService` object to connect to the third-party tax service provider's API or service. Configuring tax rates and rules for each state in Salesforce B2B Commerce allows the developer to implement their own custom tax calculation logic using Apex code. The developer can use custom objects, such as `TaxRate__c` and `TaxRule__c`, to store and manage tax rates and rules for different states and products. The developer can also use the `sfdc_checkout.TaxCalculations` interface to define how to retrieve and apply tax rates and rules for a cart or an order. Using a different pricebook for each state is not a good way to configure taxes in B2B Commerce, as it can create complexity and inconsistency in pricing and discounting logic. Using the Salesforce out-of-the-box tax calculator is not a good way either, as it does not support complex or dynamic tax scenarios that may vary by state or jurisdiction. ### NEW QUESTION # 83

What is the recommended method for increasing the number of required autocomplete characters that are typed before autocomplete works?

- A. Override the `autoComplete.search_input.minLength` value in the `CCRZ.uiProperties` file
- B. Override the autocomplete template and create and register a new handlebars helper.
- C. Update the `...minLength` property in CC Admin, then build and activate a new cache.
- D. Override and extend the `autoComplete` method in `cc_hk_Catalog`.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The recommended method for increasing the number of required autocomplete characters that are typed before autocomplete works is to override the `autoComplete.search_input.minLength` value in the `CCRZ.uiProperties` file. This file contains various properties that control the behavior and appearance of the user interface components. The `autoComplete.search_input.minLength` property specifies the minimum number of characters that must be entered before the autocomplete feature is triggered. The default value is 3, but it can be changed to any desired value by overriding it in the `CCRZ.uiProperties` file. Salesforce B2B Commerce and D2C Commerce Developer Guide, UI Properties

NEW QUESTION # 84

A developer is on a tight timeline and needs to implement a Lightning web component which can read, create and modify single records. What is the recommended path forward?

- A. Write custom functions against a wire adapter
- B. Use Lightning Data Service
- C. Use base components
- D. Create an Apex Controller

Answer: B

Explanation:

To implement a Lightning web component which can read, create and modify single records, the recommended path forward is to use Lightning Data Service. Lightning Data Service is a service that provides access to Salesforce data and metadata, cache management, and data synchronization across components. Lightning Data Service allows developers to use standard components or base components to perform CRUD (create, read, update, delete) operations on single records without writing Apex code or SOQL queries. Lightning Data Service also handles data caching, performance optimization, and conflict resolution automatically. Using base components is not a sufficient way to implement a Lightning web component which can read, create and modify single records, as base components are only user interface elements that do not provide data access or manipulation functionality by themselves. Base components need to be used with Lightning Data Service or other services to perform CRUD operations on single records. Writing custom functions against a wire adapter is not a recommended way to implement a Lightning web component which can read, create and modify single records, as it involves writing complex and error-prone JavaScript code that may not be efficient or scalable. Writing custom functions against a wire adapter also requires handling data caching, performance optimization, and conflict resolution manually. Creating an Apex controller is not a recommended way either, as it involves writing Apex code that may not be necessary or optimal for performing CRUD operations on single records. Creating an Apex controller also requires exposing Apex methods using `@AuraEnabled` or `@RemoteAction` annotations and invoking them from JavaScript code using imperative calls or promises. ### NEW QUESTION # 85

Which two aspects are applicable to Page Includes? (2 answers)

- A. Standard Visualforce controls such as `apex:form` should not be used within a page include
- B. If a controller is used for an included page, then a merge variable must be present on the page.
- C. Page Includes can be configured as Body Includes Begin.
- D. Page Includes must be assigned to an OOTB Page, i.e. Home, Product Detail, etc., and enabled

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Two aspects that are applicable to Page Includes are:

Standard Visualforce controls such as `apex:form` should not be used within a page include. This is because the page include is rendered inside an existing Visualforce page that already has a form element. Using another form element inside the page include will cause conflicts and errors. Instead, the page include should use HTML elements or custom components that do not require a form element.

Page Includes can be configured as Body Includes Begin. This means that the page include will be rendered at the beginning of the body section of the page, before any other content or widgets. This can be useful for adding some custom content or functionality that applies to the whole page, such as a banner, a modal, or a script.
