Scrum Professional Scrum Product Owner III Sample Questions (Q58-Q63):

NEW QUESTION # 58

What are different ways Product value can be depicted?

What are two ways to measure Product value?

Is releasing work the only way to deliver value? Why or why not?

Answer:

Explanation:

Two ways of describing Product Value:

1. Customer/user value - these are the benefits the customer/user will receive from the product. Solving customer pain points.
2. Business value - the benefits the business will receive from the product. Revenue, profit, employment, etc.

Two ways to measure product value:

1. Customer Usage Index
2. Product Cost Ratio

When working on complex adaptive problems, the value (affect) of the releases can only be perceived in hindsight. This means that the value the product delivers (internally and externally) is best determined by the market response of the product. Releasing to production will help you gather the most valuable feedback and information needed to help you determine what the current value is, determine the unrealized value, understand the team's ability to innovate, and manage the time to market.

For this question observe that there are 4 questions embedded in it and you required to answer each one. For this answer, it is explained the 2 different types of product value, for customer and business, and we also used EBM (Evidence-Based Management) Key Areas to sustain the value description and the answer

NEW QUESTION # 59

As a Product Owner, which of the following might you do during a Sprint?
(choose the best three answers)

- A. Support the Scrum Team if they have questions about items in the current Sprint.
- B. Manage the Daily Scrum.
- C. Engage with the stakeholders.
- D. Assign tasks to Scrum Team members.
- E. Ensure the Sprint Backlog items are completed accordingly to the burndown chart.
- F. Provide feedback.

Answer: A,C,F

NEW QUESTION # 60

The Developers would like the Product Backlog items to have a higher level of detail before accepting them to the Sprint Backlog. As a Product Owner, what would be your response?

Answer:

Explanation:

As a Product owner, work with the Scrum Team to have a common understanding of the level of detail needed for an item to be deemed Ready for selection in the Sprint Planning. Enough detail so that the Developers can estimate and begin the work needed. Involve the Scrum Team in Product Backlog refinement to help with making the PBIs ready. For this answer, team dynamics are explored and they are inspecting how you understand the interactions between Scrum Team members, the intention is that there is collaboration amongst Developers and Product Owner, a PO is not a team or project manager, but a value maximizer that needs to collaborate with users, team members, etc.

NEW QUESTION # 61

What statements are true regarding the Definition of Done?
(choose the best three answers)

- A. It defines the details of each Scrum event.
- B. It helps the Scrum Team to forecast the amount of Product Backlog items planned for a Sprint.
- C. It is a checkoff list of things that must be done before a Sprint can be closed.
- D. It is used to increase transparency.
- E. It creates a shared understanding of what finished work means.

Answer: D,E

Explanation:

Scrum Guide

The Definition of Done is a formal description of the state of the Increment when it meets the quality measures required for the product.

The moment a Product Backlog item meets the Definition of Done, an Increment is born.

The Definition of Done creates transparency by providing everyone a shared understanding of what work was completed as part of the Increment. If a Product Backlog item does not meet the Definition of Done, it cannot be released or even presented at the Sprint Review. Instead, it returns to the Product Backlog for future consideration.

If the Definition of Done for an increment is part of the standards of the organization, all Scrum Teams must follow it as a minimum. If it is not an organizational standard, the Scrum Team must create a Definition of Done appropriate for the product.

The Developers are required to conform to the Definition of Done. If there are multiple Scrum Teams working together on a product, they must mutually define and comply with the same Definition of Done.

NEW QUESTION # 62

Which of the following is true about the cone of uncertainty?

(choose the best answer)

- A. It can help a Product Owner estimate how much work is likely to be done during a certain number of Sprints.
- B. It helps to identify whether to adjust the quality, scope, or time, similar to the \Iron Triangle\ of development.
- C. It helps a person identify gaps in his/her skills as a Product Owner.
- D. It is used to identify the level of performance between individual team members.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Cone of uncertainty is not part of Scrum

However, many techniques and tools can be employed by the Product Owner that might help when developing complex products
