Adobe Experience Manager DevOps Engineer Expert Sample Questions (Q48-Q53):

NEW QUESTION # 48

A DevOps engineer needs to analyze response performance from AEM. Log files can be extracted from the AEM environment. Which logfile should be analyzed?

- A. response.log
- B. request.log
- C. replication.log
- D. access.log

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 49

Which tool allows real-time monitoring of AEM logs for troubleshooting performance issues?

- A. CRXDE Lite
- B. AEM Web Console (/system/console)
- C. Dispatcher Configuration File
- D. Log Analyzer in Cloud Manager

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 50

A multinational customer's "warning threshold" for the Folder Size: AEM Segment Store metric on the System Monitoring page in Cloud Manager is not the same as other customers and needs to be changed to match.

What should the DevOps engineer do?

- A. Configure the Cloud Manager Integration in Adobe I/O console.
- B. Deploy the new metric using the Developer Console.
- C. Contact the Adobe Customer Success Engineer.
- D. Define a new Folder Size KPI in the Setup Program panel.

Answer: C

Explanation:

In Adobe Cloud Manager, system-level monitoring metrics and their associated alerting thresholds (like CPU limits, Memory usage, and Segment Store disk space) are managed by Adobe's internal operations team.

Standard DevOps engineers and customer administrators do not have the ability to alter these foundational infrastructure thresholds via the Cloud Manager UI or APIs. To request a configuration change to alerting thresholds, the engineer must file a request via their Adobe Customer Success Engineer (CSE) or Adobe Support.

NEW QUESTION # 51

The "Deploy to" step of an AEM as a Cloud Service pipeline failed. After some analysis, the DevOps engineer discovers that the issue is that the pipeline is holding an older AEM version than the target environment.

What should the DevOps engineer do?

- A. Revert to a working commit in Git and then update using the pipeline from this branch.
- B. Select "Update" from the target environment and re-run the pipeline.
- C. Trigger the pipeline using the Adobe I/O CLI.
- D. Delete the pipeline and recreate it.

Answer: B

Explanation:

In Cloud Manager for AEM as a Cloud Service, environments are automatically updated to newer AEM versions by Adobe. If an environment is updated but the pipeline itself is still holding a reference to a previous AEM release, version mismatch errors will occur during the deployment step. The Cloud Manager UI provides an "Update" option on the environment card to synchronize the environment and the pipeline to the latest expected release. Once synchronized, re-running the pipeline will resolve the version conflict.

NEW QUESTION # 52

A DevOps engineer is migrating an AEM 6.2 instance with a large content repository to AEM as a Cloud Service. The DevOps engineer must prepare the instance to move existing content via the Content Transfer Tool.

Which two actions is the DevOps engineer required to perform? (Choose two.)

- A. Review total index size
- B. Install the latest AEM Service Packs
- C. Upgrade the instance to AEM 6.5

- D. Refactor the application code

Answer: A,C
