Appian Senior Developer Sample Questions (Q98-Q103):

NEW QUESTION # 98

You're refining a story for a centralized distribution center that extends the current application by allowing inventory managers to review orders.

These orders are created through a record action that various workshops access from a shared Appian site.

Which consideration best suits this use case?

- A. What components have already been built relating to this piece of functionality so that you can reuse them and speed up development?

- B. How will you handle errors resulting from a failed integration as a result of the workshops using an external system to place orders?
- C. What are the personas that will be utilizing this application so that an Appian group structure can be developed and maintained?

Answer: A

Explanation:

Identifying the personas (such as inventory managers and workshop users) ensures you can design and maintain an appropriate Appian group structure for managing access and permissions, which is critical for a centralized application accessed by multiple roles.

NEW QUESTION # 99

You're designing a file upload process that integrates with an external document management system.

Part of this process is to develop a start form with a file upload component, so that the user can upload multiple files.

The business has requested that the maximum file size that can be uploaded through this process is 1GB. Additionally, you're aware that the integration's API can accept files with a maximum file size of 3GB, but recommends no larger than 1GB.

Can the process be more performant without straining the application or integration?

- A. Yes. Request the business allows for these files to be uploaded as an overnight process by storing large files in a staging table, so that adequate resources are available.
- B. Yes. Request the business reconsiders its requirements and find manual workarounds as it is not recommended to upload files of this size in both Appian and the integration.
- C. No. The file upload component is capable of accepting 1 GB files and the integration can handle this.

Answer: A

Explanation:

While Appian and the integration technically support 1 GB file uploads, handling such large files during interactive sessions can negatively impact application performance, user experience, and resource utilization.

A better approach is to request that the business allow these files to be uploaded asynchronously (e.g., overnight batch process), by temporarily storing them (e.g., in a staging table or folder) and processing them when system load is lower. This makes the process more performant and reliable without straining Appian or the external system.

NEW QUESTION # 100

You're maintaining a client's case management system.

The client needs you to review the performance of one of their interfaces as it is perceived to be quite slow. The interface is a start form that users use to edit party records in the system. They can edit these party records either through the participant view of the case record or directly through the party record.

Given a party record may consist of many attributes, Custom Data Types (CDT) have been used for the purpose of writing to the database, while record types have been used to retrieve data.

What might be a potential cause for this issue, and what should you do?

- A. The user should only query and edit the attributes they are intending to edit. Hence, you should restrict editing through the case record and users should only edit the party through the party record.
- B. The queries may not be performant due to unexpected indexing conditions or be casting to the incorrect CDT. Hence, you should review the queries and adjust accordingly.
- C. CDTs are an inefficient method for writing to the database. Hence, you should refactor the entire process to utilize records only.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 101

You're redesigning user interfaces to achieve more efficient space usage.

Which layout component is the best choice for displaying an interface with a vertical meaningful order of components?

- A. `LinearLayout()`

- B. a!columnsLayout()
- C. a!sideBySideLayout()

Answer: B

a!columnsLayout() is best for organizing and displaying components in a vertical order with efficient space usage, as it supports arranging items in structured, responsive columns.

NEW QUESTION # 102

Your client reported that a form in the application is very slow to load.

You investigate and find a query entity which is not performing well.

Which action should you perform to improve query performance for the query entity?

- A. Apply the appropriate filters and indices in both Appian and the database.
- B. Apply indices on all the fields referred in the query.
- C. Change the data source of the query entity to a view with a WHERE clause.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Applying appropriate filters and indices in both Appian and the database ensures that only relevant data is retrieved and the database query runs efficiently, improving overall query performance.
