Palo Alto Networks Certified Network Security Engineer Exam Sample Questions (Q350-Q355):

NEW QUESTION # 350

A firewall engineer creates a new App-ID report under Monitor > Reports > Application Reports > New Applications to monitor new applications on the network and better assess any Security policy updates the engineer might want to make.

How does the firewall identify the New App-ID characteristic?

- A. It matches to the New App-IDs downloaded in the last 30 days.
- B. It matches to the New App-IDs downloaded in the last 90 days.

- C. It matches to the New App-IDs installed since the last time the firewall was rebooted.
- D. It matches to the New App-IDs in the most recently installed content releases.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The New App-ID characteristic enables the firewall to monitor new applications on the network, so that the engineer can better assess the security policy updates they might want to make. The New App-ID characteristic always matches to only the new App-IDs in the most recently installed content releases. When a new content release is installed, the New App-ID characteristic automatically begins to match only to the new App-IDs in that content release version. This way, the engineer can see how the newly-categorized applications might impact security policy enforcement and make any necessary adjustments. References: Monitor New App-IDs

NEW QUESTION # 354

An administrator has configured a pair of firewalls using high availability in Active/Passive mode. Path Monitoring has been enabled with a Failure Condition of "any."

A path group is configured with Failure Condition of "all" and contains a destination IP of 8.8.8.8 and 4.2.2.2 with a Ping Interval of 500ms and a Ping count of 3.

Which scenario will cause the Active firewall to fail over?

- A. IP address 4.2.2.2 is unreachable for 2 seconds.
- B. IP addresses 8.8.8.8 and 4.2.2.2 are unreachable for 1 second.
- C. IP address 8.8.8.8 is unreachable for 1 second.
- D. IP addresses 8.8.8.8 and 4.2.2.2 are unreachable for 2 seconds

Answer: D

Explanation:

2 seconds as 3 x 500ms is more than 1 sec, and failure condition set to all means both have to be unreachable>
