NEW QUESTION # 24

Which tunneling technique is used when designing a Cisco SD-Access fabric data plane?

- A. VXLAN
- B. VRF Lite
- C. VRF
- D. LISP

Answer: A

Explanation:

The tunneling technology used for the fabric data plane is based on Virtual Extensible LAN (VXLAN). VXLAN encapsulation is UDP based, meaning that it can be forwarded by any IP- based network (legacy or third party) and creates the overlay network for the SD-Access fabric.

Although LISP is the control plane for the SD-Access fabric, it does not use LISP data encapsulation for the data plane; instead, it uses VXLAN encapsulation because it is capable of encapsulating the original Ethernet header to perform MAC-in-IP encapsulation, while LISP does not. Using VXLAN allows the SD-Access fabric to support Layer 2 and Layer 3 virtual topologies (overlays) and the ability to operate over any IP-based network with built-in network segmentation (VRF instance/VN) and built-in group-based policy.

Chapter	Section
SD-Access Operational Planes	Control Plane - LISP
	Data Plane - VXLAN
	Policy Plane - Cisco TrustSec
	Management Plane - Cisco DNA Center

NEW QUESTION # 25

Which encryption hashing algorithm does NTP use for authentication?

- A. MD5
- B. SSL
- C. AES256
- D. AES128

Answer: A

Explanation:

NTP (Network Time Protocol) uses the MD5 (Message-Digest Algorithm 5) hashing algorithm for authentication purposes. MD5 is utilized to create a hash value based on the time information being sent over the network. This hash is then used to verify the integrity and authenticity of the NTP messages, ensuring that the time data has not been tampered with during transit. While MD5 is not the most secure hashing algorithm available, it is widely used in NTP implementations due to its balance of security and computational efficiency.
