- A. Signed system images
- B. Antivirus
- C. MDM
- D. SSO

Answer: C

Explanation:

MDM stands for Mobile Device Management, and it is a way of remotely managing and securing mobile devices that are used for work purposes¹. MDM can enforce policies and restrictions on the devices, such as preventing users from installing unauthorized apps, modifying system settings, or accessing root privileges². MDM can also monitor device status, wipe data, lock devices, or locate lost or stolen devices¹.

- A. Enable Bluetooth on the phone.
- B. Turn off airplane mode while at the register.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 36

Which of the following could be used to implement secure physical access to a data center?

- A. Motion sensor
- B. Geofence
- C. Alarm system
- D. Badge reader

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

Badge readers are used to implement secure physical access to a data center. They are used to read the identification information on an employee's badge and grant access to the data center if the employee is authorized².

This system requires individuals to have an access badge that contains their identification information or a unique code that can be scanned by a reader. After the badge is scanned, the system compares the information on the badge with the authorized personnel database to authenticate if the individual has the required clearance to enter that area. The other options listed, such as a geofence, alarm system, or motion sensor are security measures that may be used in conjunction with badge readers, but do not provide identification and authentication features.

- B. Reimage the workstation.
- C. Roll back the updates.
- D. Repair Windows.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

The error "BOOTMGR is missing" indicates that the boot sector is damaged or missing¹. The boot sector is a part of the hard disk that contains the code and information needed to start Windows¹. To fix this error, one of the possible methods is to run Startup Repair from Windows Recovery Environment (WinRE)¹. NEW QUESTION # 38

A workstation's hard drive is making loud noises, applications are running slowly, and the workstation is rebooting unexpectedly. Which of the following should the technician do first to begin troubleshooting the issue?

- A. Run CHKDSK.
- B. Perform a System Restore.
- C. Replace the hard drive.
- D. Open Disk Cleanup.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The correct answer is D. Run CHKDSK (Check Disk).

* CHKDSK is a command-line utility that scans and repairs file system errors and bad sectors on a disk.

Running this tool first can determine whether the hard drive is experiencing file system corruption or physical failure.

* If CHKDSK reports bad sectors or extensive corruption, it indicates that the drive is failing, and data backup should be performed immediately before replacing the drive.

* Syntax Example:

chkdsk /f/r

* /f - Fixes file system errors.

* /r - Locates bad sectors and recovers readable information.

Why Other Options Are Incorrect:

* A. Perform a System Restore - System Restore can revert system settings, but it does not fix hardware issues like a failing hard drive.

* B. Open Disk Cleanup - Disk Cleanup removes temporary files but does not diagnose or repair disk issues.

* C. Replace the hard drive - While replacement may be necessary, a technician should first diagnose the issue using CHKDSK before determining if the drive needs to be replaced.

CompTIA A+ 220-1102 Exam Reference:

* Objective 4.1 - Given a scenario, troubleshoot common problems related to storage and RAID.
