Salesforce Certified Data Architect Sample Questions (Q138-Q143):

NEW QUESTION # 138

To avoid creating duplicate Contacts, a customer frequently uses Data Loader to upsert Contact records into Salesforce. What common error should the data architect be aware of when using upsert?

- A. Errors when a duplicate Contact name is found cause upsert to fail.
- B. Errors with records being updated and inserted in the same CSV file.
- C. Errors with duplicate external Id values within the same CSV file.
- D. Errors with using the wrong external Id will cause the load to fail.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 139

UC developers have created a new lightning component that uses an Apex controller using a SOQL query to populate a custom list view. Users are complaining that the component often fails to load and returns a time-out error. What tool should a data architect use to identify why the query is taking too long?

- A. Open a ticket with salesforce support to retrieve transaction logs to be analyzed for processing time.
- B. Use salesforce's query optimizer to analyze the query in the developer console.
- C. Enable and use the query plan tool in the developer console.
- D. Use Splunk to query the system logs looking for transaction time and CPU usage.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 140

Universal Containers is setting up an external Business Intelligence (BI) system and wants to extract 1,000,000 Contact records. What should be recommended to avoid timeouts during the export process?

- A. Use GZIP compression to export the data.
- B. Use the SOAP API to export data.
- C. Utilize the Bulk API to export the data.
- D. Schedule a Batch Apex job to export the data.

Answer: A

Explanation:

According to the exam guide, one of the objectives is to "describe the use cases and considerations for using various tools and techniques for data migration (for example, Data Loader, Bulk API)". This implies that option B is the correct way to extract large volumes of data from Salesforce. The Bulk API is designed to handle large-scale data operations and avoid timeouts. Option A is not correct because the SOAP API is not optimized for large data sets and may encounter limits. Option C is not correct because GZIP compression does not prevent timeouts, but rather reduces the size of the data transferred. Option D is not correct because Batch Apex is used to process records asynchronously in Salesforce, not to export data to an external system.

NEW QUESTION # 141

Every year, Ursa Major Solar has more than 1 million orders. Each order contains an average of 10 line items. The Chief Executive Officer (CEO) needs the Sales Reps to see how much money each customer generates year-over-year. However, data storage is running low in Salesforce. Which approach for data archiving is appropriate for this scenario?

- A. 1. Annually export and delete orders and order line items. 2. Store them in a zip file in case the data is needed later.
- B. 1. Annually aggregate order amount data to store in a custom object. 2. Delete those orders and order line items.
- C. 1. Annually export and delete order line items. 2. Store them in a zip file in case the data is needed later.
- D. 1. Annually delete orders and order line items. 2. Ensure the customer has order information in another system.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Option B is the most appropriate approach for data archiving in this scenario. By aggregating order amount data at a summary level and storing it in a custom object, you can reduce data storage and still provide visibility to the Sales Reps on how much money each customer generates year-over-year. Option A is not correct because storing data in a zip file does not make it available in Salesforce. Option C is not correct because exporting and deleting orders and order line items may lose important details that are needed for analysis or reporting. Option D is not correct because deleting orders and order line items without exporting them may cause data loss or inconsistency if the customer does not have order information in another system.

NEW QUESTION # 142

Universal Containers (UC) has deployed Salesforce to manage Marketing, Sales, and Support efforts in a multi-system ERP environment. After reaching the limits of native reports & dashboards, UC leadership is looking to understand what options can be used to provide more analytical insights. What two approaches should an architect recommend? Choose 2 answers

- A. AppExchange Apps
- B. Setup Audit Trails
- C. Wave Analytics
- D. Weekly Snapshots

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

According to the exam guide, one of the objectives is to "describe the use cases and considerations for using AppExchange apps and Wave Analytics"¹. This implies that options A and B are both valid approaches to provide more analytical insights. Option C is not correct because weekly snapshots are used to track changes over time, not to provide advanced analytics³. Option D is not correct because setup audit trails are used to monitor changes in the setup menu, not to provide analytical insights.
