NEW QUESTION # 225

Document the events, circumstances, and chronology and prepare a "lesson learned" review are the primary parts of:

- A. Testing
- B. All of the above

- C. Quality assurance
- D. After action

Answer: D

Explanation:

An "after action" review is a structured process following an incident, drill, or actual disaster, in which events are documented, timelines are reconstructed, and lessons learned are gathered. Its purpose is to identify what went well, what failed, and what can be improved in future responses.

Testing (A) refers to evaluating procedures before an event.

Quality assurance (B) focuses on performance and compliance but not necessarily post-event analysis.

"All of the above" (D) is incorrect because only after action includes all these specific elements.

Which one of the following options should be considered with respect to the issuance of weapons?

- A. Record of shift absences
- B. Conditions when equipment may be utilized
- C. Public perception
- D. Physical fitness of the security officer

Answer: B

Explanation:

When issuing weapons to security personnel, policies must clearly define the conditions under which the equipment may be used. This ensures legal compliance, accountability, and safety. Proper use-of-force guidelines are critical in managing liability and operational control.

A (Public perception) is important but secondary.

B and C may be relevant to personnel qualification but not to issuance policies themselves.

Those who are delegated authority in the direct chain of command to accomplish specific organizational objectives are known as:

- A. Stockholders
- B. Line executives
- C. Management
- D. Authorized directives

Answer: B

Explanation:

Line executives are individuals in the direct chain of command who are responsible for achieving the core objectives of an organization. They have authority over subordinate personnel and direct responsibility for organizational results. They differ from staff personnel, who provide advice or support but do not directly manage line functions.

Management (A) is a broader term that includes both line and staff.

Authorized directives (B) are formal instructions, not people.

Stockholders (D) are owners, not organizational authorities.

NEW QUESTION # 229

When yard space and warehousing is required even in urban areas, _____ is the boundary of the property owned by the company.

- A. Perimeter
- B. Wall
- C. Fence
- D. Chain link

Answer: A

Explanation:

In physical security, the term "perimeter" refers to the outer boundary of a property or facility. This includes fences, walls, gates, and other barriers that mark the edge of the secured area. In contexts where yard space and warehousing are used (such as in industrial or urban logistics operations), the perimeter defines the boundary of company-owned property and is critical for physical access control.

"Fence" (A) and "Wall" (B) are types of perimeter barriers.

"Chain link" (D) is a material used in fences, not a boundary in itself.

Perimeter protection is addressed in Domain 2: Application, Design, and Integration of Physical Security Measures.
